While many area teens are soaking up the rays at beaches, five teens are training for leadership roles.

The 15-year-olds are part of the Counselor In Training (CIT) Program at Hastings Lake YMCA in eastern Lake Villa. These five girls were selected because of leadership skills they demonstrated as campers. All of them say the experience is a lot different than at home.

"I think the friends I meet here are almost better than the ones back at home," said CIT Jennie Few of Libertyville. "I spend more time with them and we are together more."

"At first I didn't like it," said Dana McClellan, of Lake Forest, a first-time camper at Camp Hastings who had camping experience at other YMCA sites. "After a while I got used to it. I liked the camp fire. I had a warm feeling inside. Everyone calls you by your first name. I like it."

The program is designed to prepare teenagers for all the demands of being a counselor. During the two-week training session, they learn about leadership, first aid skills, roughing it in the woods. The CITs also perform many of the activities the camp offers such as horseback riding, jet skiing, hiking, swimming, field hockey and rappelling.

The CITs were recommended by camp counselors who noticed their leadership and communication skills when they were campers. McClellan said being a CIT is helping her with leadership.

'Bud' Holtz remembered for community service

MARY FOLEY

R.G. "Bud" Holtz, 85, a very special citizen of Antioch, died this week. The former politician and business owner died Monday at Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center.

"I worked with him at the township," said Antioch Township Supervisor Jim Fields, "but I've known him all my life. He was a great guy. He helped everyone. He would do anything for anyone."

Holtz, born in Winneconne, Wis., came to Antioch as a young man. Sometime in the 1930s he purchased and operated Bud's Tavern. He served in the Army during the Korean Conflict.

Past member of the Lake County Board, Holtz served as the Antioch Township tax assessor for many years. In addition, he was a See HOLTZ page A10

Lake Villa Twp. may hold key to schools

Third in a series

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

How the Lake Villa Township school districts handle residential growth has far reaching implications for both Antioch and Grayslake high school districts.

Presently, Lake Villa Elementary School Board officials are considering creating a K-12 district within the district's boundaries. However, when this plan would be ready to come before the voters is at least eight months to a year away, according to District 41 President Craig Kressner.

Kressner said there is support within the Lake Villa and Lindenhurst communities but the division of assets, or how much the district could seek from current districts is still unresolved.

"Even if it would benefit the district in the long run it can't afford to pay in the short run. The school districts just don't have the money," Kressner said.

District 41 is a feeder district to both Antioch, Grayslake and Grant high school districts. Lake Villa Township students account for about 55 percent of Antioch High School's enrollment and 20 percent of Grayslake's enrollment.

Kressner said some state aid or special legislation is needed to address the division of assets issue. He said this is the way for school boards to afford the division.

Even if District 41 became a unit, it wouldn't address the growth in Antioch Elementary District and Millburn Elementary District. About 85 percent of Millburn's enrollment is from Lindenhurst and about 20 percent of Antioch Elementary is from Lindenhurst and Lake Villa. Those percentages are expected to increase.

The other difficulty is it would still split the village of Lindenhurst into three school districts. Currently the Lindenhurst youth attend five different districts.

"I think there is a lot of support in the Lindenhurst community and some support depending on the plan from my office," said Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk.

Baumunk said the community and village boards must be part of any school solution. He said members of his board are interested in taking part in any committee which discusses the overall school issue.

He added he doesn't think the District 41 unit concept is the perfect solution, but the best one at this time.

"I have a philosophical problem with splitting Lindenhurst. Not all of the students would be going to the unit. The first unit plan was the best option but this is the next best option," Baumunk said.

Grayslake High School officials indicate they are supportive of a combination plan which would join the Grayslake and Antioch High School districts and a third high school would be constructed in the Lake Villa area.

This approach could leave enough room in both high schools and have a Lake Villa High School. However, Kressner said the two districts have reasons not to combine.

Kressner mentioned Antioch's building is older than Grayslake. He said it would be a tough sell for Grayslake to have to pay a share of expected repair bills when no Grayslake residents use the high school and the state is leery of large, combined districts.

Kressner stressed the Lake Villa unit district referendum supporters laid much of the groundwork for handling a unit district. But the group was not a taxing body and couldn't make firm promises to other districts which created a lot of ifs and uncertainty.

Meanwhile, Antioch Elementary and Millburn Districts are facing their own growth problems. Millburn is considering a 10-room building expansion and Antioch Elementary also may need a building referendum as well.

Warren Moser benefit to go ahead

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Warren Moser Benefit will take place as scheduled, despite the sad passing of Moser on July 13. While Moser was not able to fulfill his life-long dream to go to Alaska, friends and family are planning to do something special with the funds generated by the benefit.

"The benefit will go on," said organizer Karen Lynn, "so the magic can continue. We will give something back to the town in Warren's name."

The event, which takes place July 30, begins at 2 p.m. at the Limerick Lounge. The Village of Antioch has approved the closing of the municipal lot off Toft for the benefit.

Moser, a former employee of Rays Service, was a victim of cancer. The 39-year-old locksmith and mechanic was a familiar sight in Antioch. Friends described him as a "gentle giant."

The benefit committee met Monday night at Lynns house to discuss some ideas on what to do with the money generated by the benefit. "We are definitely going to do something for the village," said Lynn. Some of the ideas tossed around were a "Moser" pavilion for Pederson Park or even a basketball court in his honor.

The benefit, the third such event thrown by the Limerick Lounge, will include an auction, raffle and door prizes. Raymond Chevrolet has donated a car and the Limerick a trip for two to Las Vegas. Ray's Service has donated a 24-inch color television and the Sandbar Y-Not Inn has donated a VCR.

The public is encouraged to attend.

Impact fee document sent to schools

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Antioch Village Board, after making a few minor changes in the impact fee amendment ordinance, will be sending it off to get the okay from area school districts. The schools will be required to sign attached indemnification agreements.

"This will be sent to all the school districts in order to indemnify the village," said Antioch Village Attorney Ken Clark.

The village has a fairly limited role with impact fees. After approving the amendment to an earlier impact fee agreement, the village's only role is collection. "All we are going to do is collect the money," said Clark.

The impact fee funds are given to the schools based on the fee formula. Schools can then use the money for capital improvements on existing buildings as well as for the purchase and construction of new school buildings.

A letter of request was sent by District 34 Superintendent Dan

Burke to both the Village of Lindenhurst and the Village of Lake Villa. In the letter, Burke asks both boards to consider approval of the new impact fee schedule for those areas serviced by Antioch Community High School or District 34.

To date, Burke has had a positive response from Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk. Baumunk writes, "We applaud you for your efforts and will continue requiring developers to meet with each of you and deliver a signed agreement to the Village of Lindenhurst."

Lindenhurst will also require an indemnification agreement from the school districts. The agreement will indemnify the villages from any and all law suits which may arise from the impact fee schedule.

Flood meeting may provide positive impact on Antioch

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Thursday night meeting of the Lake County Flood Mitigation Plan may offer many positive features for the Antioch area. Topping the list could be federal funding. Because the federal government is changing the way money will be distributed, the Stormwater Management Commission hopes to be "first in line" for the Antioch area.

In essence, the Antioch area experiences two types of flooding. First there is the more obvious type in which homes and roadways are covered with water from the lakes, rivers, and streams after heavy downpours. The second type of flooding occurs on a more regular basis every spring as the snow melts. As the water table rises, septic fields begin to fail.

Alan Schlindwein of Stormwater Management believes that while many residents who experience obvious flooding will come forward, he is aware of the reluctance of residents to document septic failures. "They don't want the health department to come in and tell them they cannot live in their homes anymore," said Schlindwein. "If we wanted the information for that we could eventually figure out which properties are at risk and send the list to the health department."

Instead, the meeting has a more important goal — that of possibly obtaining funding to have the problems repaired. "If no one is talking about it, we can't get help," explains Schlindwein. "We may be able to do something about this to eliminate the economic damage."

Residents unable to attend the Thursday night meeting, held at St. Stevens Church at 7 p.m., can still document any problems by calling 918-5260. The Stormwater Management Commission encourages everyone experiencing either type of flood to call and get a form.

Sailor deploys overseas on USS Juneau

Christopher Gentleman

When ships leave their home port for an overseas deployment, sailors look forward to visiting foreign ports and putting months of hard work and training to the test.

Navy Seaman Christopher A. Gentleman, the 20-year-old son of Robert and Candace Malson of Antioch, is stationed aboard the USS Juneau (LPD 10) which left San Diego June 23 for a six-month deployment to the Indian Ocean and Arabian Gulf.

Months of training have prepared Gentleman and the other 400 crew members of the amphibious warfare ship for the operational deployment. He also knows how important deployments like this are.

"The training has shown me that my work will be hard and very demanding, but if I take pride in my job I will turn out outstanding results. The deployment is important because we need to show U.S. presence overseas," said Gentleman, a 1993 graduate of Antioch Comm. High School.

Gentleman, a cook, prepares meals for the ship's crew.

The Juneau is the third naval warship named for the capital city of Alaska. The 17,000-ton warship, part of a four-ship amphibious ready group that includes the USS New Orleans, USS Comstock and USS Mount Vernon, is uniquely designed to transport its 550 embarked Marines to hot spots around the world and conduct assault missions from the sea in support of combat or humanitarian relief operations.

Over the past three decades, the ship has conducted 14 deployments to the Western Pacific, Indian Ocean and Arabian Gulf regions. On the last deployment in 1993, the Juneau was diverted to the waters off the West African nation of Somalia in support of Operation Restore Hope. A mission of mercy, the Marines on board ensured the security for shipments of vitally needed food supplies to the starving people of Somalia.

As the U.S. and its allies become more involved with worldwide regional conflicts, there has been greater importance put on amphibious ready groups and ships like the 570-foot Juneau.

While there will be visits to foreign ports, there will also be many hours at sea. During the deployment, Gentleman will be able to increase his job skills and accomplish personal and professional goals.

"I am looking forward to advancing in rank and getting some of my advanced qualifications completed," said Gentleman, a one-year Navy veteran.

Along with the highly technical training Gentleman has received in the Navy, he has found many other rewarding aspects of the Navy.

"The Navy is an excellent experience for anyone," said Gentleman.

Gentleman and the Juneau are scheduled to return to the U.S. in December.

Jaycees' gala big hit despite rain, heat

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Jaycee's Fun in the Sun, didn't exactly have sun the whole day. But the nearly overwhelming heat, humidity, and thunderstorm did not put a damper on the festivities.

The party was held at the Captain's Quarters last Saturday. Live music, volleyball and basketball games kept participants busy throughout the day. Captain's Quarters owner, Steve Becker estimates a crowd between 75 and 100.

"It went real well," said Becker, "despite the rain that came down."

The party was held to celebrate the hard work and commitment of both the Jaycees and the community. The organization sponsors many programs during the year including sending area handicapped children to camp.

"This is our way of saying thanks for another great year," said Donna Bergi, an Antioch Jaycee member.

The party included both members of the Jaycees as well as the general public. Food and beverages were served and Reggae music was provided.

Cash station robber caught

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Thanks to an alert would-be victim and the quick action of the Lake County Sheriff's office, an armed robber who targeted users of an automatic teller machine in Grayslake is now behind bars.

Boyd Carter, 20, whose last known address was Hudson, Fla., was being sought since an earlier armed robbery at the Warren Newport Credit Union drive-up ATM when he got away with $200 cash. His second attempt was on a 38-year-old Grayslake woman who was using the same ATM at 1868 East Belvidere Rd. to withdraw cash July 16.

According to Grayslake Police Sergeant Matt McCutcheon, the woman had left her car in drive and was using the cash station while her foot was resting on the brake. McCutcheon said being alert saved her from theft or potential harm.

"She was looking in her rear view mirror. She saw him walk up, pull out the gun but was able to pull out her money and her card and drive away," McCutcheon said.

The woman went to the nearest pay phone and reported the crime. Grayslake police were on the scene in minutes but were unable to locate an offender in a car that matched the description given by the witness. She was able to give excellent details of the crime because it happened at 2:20 p.m. The police department put out a flash warning which goes directly to the Lake County Sheriff's office, who then distributes the information to all nearby police departments.

Minutes later a Lake County Sheriff's deputy stopped a car in Gurnee. Both the car and the car's driver matched the description given. The deputy also recovered a .22-caliber revolver loaded with the full 9 shots. Boyd was transported to the Grayslake Police Department where he was processed and booked on one count of attempted armed robbery, one count one felony count of unlawful use of weapon and one count of possession of a firearm without an F.O.I.D. card. McCutcheon said police were able to charge Carter with both cash station robberies because he was cooperative in the case.

"He basically confessed to both crimes," McCutcheon said. Carter was apparently living out of his car. It is not known how long he has been in Lake County or if he came here by acquaintance. A 16-year-old riding with Carter, listed as a runaway in Florida, will be returned to authorities in that state.

McCutcheon said other law enforcement agencies are looking into the possibility of Carter's involvement in other crimes.

Heat taxes health, patience and utilities

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The record breaking heat of last weekend took its toll on Antioch residents. With power outages and increased rescue calls, officials had their hands full while homeowners attempted to keep their cool.

"We had seven calls in 40 minutes," said Antioch Rescue Squad Chief Tim Osmond. He said most were calls from people having trouble breathing.

According to Joe Trexler of Commonwealth Edison, the power outages were a result of a failure at a distribution center. "The system has been overloaded for a couple of years," he explained.

In an effort to deal with the existing load, Commonwealth Edison has plans to put in new, larger overhead power lines. Edison recently received the okay from the Illinois Commerce Commission to put in the lines and are now preparing to go through the permitting process with the Army Corps of Engineers.

Because of the legal battle with Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity (CAUSE) the completion date for the project has been pushed back. The new lines will not be operational until sometime in 1997.

In the meantime, Antioch can expect to experience more service interruptions. If something happens at the existing distribution centers, there is no place to switch customers over. Instead, residents will be required to wait until Edison gets crews out and fix the problem.

"All it takes is one good interruption to appreciate the pre-plans we had in place," said Trexler. "We'll be very happy to see the new station going in there."

Another factor Edison will need to take into consideration is the new Metra rail yard. The yard will up the electricity requirements of the area. "It will add to the load," said Trexler. "The engineers are still working on that."

Swindlers get $800 for 'home repair'

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

The Grayslake Police Department has issued a word of caution after an elderly resident was swindled out of $800 for a phony home repair.

"This kind of thing makes us very upset," Grayslake Police Sergeant Matt McCutcheon said.

McCutcheon said the victim was at home when she was approached by three men saying she had cracks in her foundation. They convinced her the cracks needed to be repaired and began the job after she paid them $800. After spraying a black, oily substance on the foundation and steps, the men said they were leaving for lunch, but never returned.

The woman, who McCutcheon said was in her 80s, did not know anything was amiss until her daughter returned home a short time later. In fact, what had actually happened to her did not dawn on her until sometime later.

"When the police arrived, she didn't know what all the commotion was about," McCutcheon said, describing the victim as a sweet lady.

The oily substance was running off of the foundation as police arrived on the scene. McCutcheon said it is being tested but fraudulent operators often employ used motor oil for a home repair charade.

McCutcheon said the typical home fraud comes from those offering to make exterior home or driveway repairs and those posing as utility company employees. Utility company employees generally have picture IDs.

Using descriptions given by alert neighbors, an investigation is continuing in the case.

Who needs the Taste of Chicago when you live in Antioch

It may not be on the grand scale that the Taste of Chicago is, but Taste of Antioch will certainly fulfill all your food cravings plus give you a great overview of the fine eating establishments in this good old town of Antioch. Starting Thursday, July 20 and going until Sunday, the streets of town will be transformed into a major food court where palates of all tastes will be satisfied. And the best part is it's close to home with no major traffic jams and most parking is free! So bring your family out for a day or evening of entertainment and Bon Appetite!

It's raining cats and dogs

We have all been in the predicament where we are outdoors, far from shelter, and we suddenly hear the distant rumble of thunder. We usually quicken our pace and head for the nearest refuge. Recently though, Donna Bergl was trying to fool with Mother Nature and she lost—big time!

Seems Donna wanted to give her dogs a bit of exercise and as she went out to free them from their pen, thunder could be heard in the far off distance, or so she thought. No sooner did she get the gate open and the dogs had tasted freedom, then the thunder roared directly overhead and the first pitter patter of rain began to fall. The dogs either got spooked by the claps of angry thunder or just wanted to have a little fun with their master, but for whatever reason, they wouldn't cooperate in returning to their pen.

By the time Donna recaptured the beasts and had them secured behind the gate, the heavens had opened up and her new, yet to be landscaped front lawn resembled an old fashioned mud hole.

As if wading ankle-deep in mud back to the house wasn't bad enough, as she approached the front door she heard the phone ringing. Using language usually reserved for one's own ears, she kicked off her muddied shoes and proceeded to the jingling phone. Upon picking up the receiver, she was greeted with "Too bad you didn't have a bar of soap with you. You could have taken a shower outdoors and saved some wear and tear in your new bathroom."

Now unbeknownst to Donna, her "Mother Dearest," who happens to live across the street, had a front row seat to the whole first act of Donna's escapade and Old Mother Hubbard herself wasted no time in humiliating her rain-soaked, muddied child. Mom's second phone call was to "Jingle" here to reveal all the juicy details and let the whole town of Antioch in on her daughter's misery. Having a mom like that makes Joan Crawford look like Mother Theresa.

So Donna, if I were you, the next time your dogs need some exercise, I just might let them wander over to dear old mom's yard to do their big business and then return them to their corral, leaving their digestive goodies for mom's unsuspecting foot, or better yet, that churning lawn mower of hers!

Evergreen Wildlife

I recently received some literature from an organization dedicated to adopting and nursing back to health orphaned or injured animals. Now I know most of you shudder at the thought of those pesky ground hogs eating at your vegetable gardens or those beastly raccoons making a midnight snack out of your trash, but all creatures deserve a chance and the fine volunteers at this organization see to that. Not only do these folks protect and aid animals, they acquire land for wildlife preservation, and educate and promote coexistence with animals.

With today's urban sprawl knocking on our doorstep, more and more animals are uprooted and forced to relocate and coexist with us humans, and we don't always make very good neighbors.

This is a totally non-profit, tax-exempt organization, licensed by the state and federal government. Evergreen receives no government support, but depends solely on your donations. So if you feel compelled to help out this worthwhile effort, makes checks payable to Evergreen Wildlife and mail them to Evergreen Wildlife Conservation Society, Inc., P.O. Box 805, McHenry, IL 60051-0805, or you can call them with any of your wildlife related questions or problems at (815)344-2111. Any monetary amount would be greatly appreciated.

Preschool possibilities

At the annual Fourth of July parade in Antioch, Sue McHale was walking in the parade, saw The Pringle Clan sitting on the curb observing the festivities, and stopped the whole procession just to stop and chat about her preschool. Seems there are more preschools in the area than the famous and often written about Camp Crayon. Can that be possible?

Sue is the director at the Good Shepherd Christian Preschool in Lake Villa and she was sure to provide me with all the necessary information about enrollment so I could get the word out about their fine facility.

This program gives your child the ability to share, create, interact and solve problems through innovative play and proven child development techniques. They have a two-day program for 3 year olds on Tuesday and Thursday, and a three-day program for 4 and 5 year olds on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Both sessions are held from 9 until 11:30 a.m. The preschool is located at 25100 W. Grand Ave. (corner of Rte. 59 and Grand Avenue) in Lake Villa. For more information or to register, contact Sue at 356-5158 or 356-1776.

Okay, Sue, I gave you great coverage so now I expect some amusing tidbits from your angels.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle." Don't forget to call 395-6364.

First Chicago helps celebrate annual Maxwell Street Days, Taste of Antioch

The First National Bank of Chicago is celebrating Maxwell Street Days and Taste of Antioch with a prize-winning coloring contest for children 12 and under.

Participants in the contest will have a chance at a random drawing for such prizes as a brand new Schwinn bicycle, courtesy of First Chicago and Antioch Schwinn Cyclery; a $50 gift certificate to BJ's Sports Center, courtesy of the Advertiser; and a year's supply of cereal, courtesy of the Antioch Jewel Foods.

"First Chicago enjoys a giving back to the community and bringing family and friends together," said Jeff Mulder, president of First Chicago's Antioch branch. "The kids have a great time and have a chance to win some neat prizes."

Prize winners will be contacted by phone. Parents of children 12 and under can pick up an entry form at the First Chicago branch, Jewel Food Store in Antioch, Antioch Schwinn Cyclery, or look in their July 19 Advertiser newspaper.

Speed limits should be governed by states

US Cong. Phillip M. Crane (R)

I support the drive to eliminate the national speed limit for automobiles on federally financed highways. The states have the right to set limits. Highway speeds should not be dictated by the federal government. States know best what their people want and need and should be allowed to set their own rules of the road. This is another example of "Big Brother" moving into an area where he should have no jurisdiction. The Senate voted to put an end to the current mandatory limit—55 miles per hour in urban areas and 65 mph in more rural regions. The Senate action did not extend to big trucks and buses. A 55-mph limit was imposed during the energy crisis in 1974. In 1987, the federal limit was changed to allow speeds up to 65 mph outside of metropolitan areas. I feel confident the House will agree with the Senate action.

I am optimistic that this 104th Congress will be able to do away with the department which should never have been created in the first place, the Dept. of Education. It was established in 1979 in a political payoff to a teacher's union. Past efforts to abolish the agency failed. The House Republican plans calls for terminating the department within a year and transferring many of its responsibilities to other agencies. There is more involved than saving money by this move.

I also want to kill much of the intrusion of the federal government into education areas that were meant to be handled on state and local levels. In putting the department out of business, we will hand over to the states total control of $11 billion of its programs and scatter the rest to other agencies. We'll put an end to much of the federal role in education, which has grown too large and become too burdensome on local school systems.

We also need to repeal Goals 2000, which has been high on the Clinton Administration's agenda. Programs such as Goals 2000 give states grants to improve academic standards, but allow the federal government to meddle too much in the affairs of local schools. I want to transform that $11 billion that the Dept. of Education spends on elementary and secondary schools, as well as colleges, into "no strings attached" block grants. This would enable the states to spend the money for any educational purpose, virtually free of government interference.

In keeping our promise to reduce committee payroll and costs and staff, we were able to produce a reduction of $10 million in payroll charges in the first quarter of this year. We voted for committee reductions on the first day of the 104th Congress. In the past, the trend was for ever-increasing congressional staffs. Republicans promised to reduce the size of government and we started by cutting congressional staffs. The first quarter of 1995 saw a whopping 36 percent decrease in salary costs and a nearly 40 percent drop in the number of staffers on House committees.

VFW donates $2,000 to Rescue Squad

On Independence Day, July 4, the Antioch VFW Post 4551 held its weekly bingo game for the benefit of the Antioch Rescue Squad. Commander John Kurinec has announced that $2,000 will be donated to the all-volunteer Antioch Rescue Squad as part of their ongoing support of the Antioch Community.

Rescue Squad members were on hand to help with sales of the bingo cards and to visit with VFW members and bingo players.

The Antioch VFW holds its Bingo Night every Tuesday evening at the VFW Post 4551 Memorial Hall on North Ave., east of Hwy. 83 in Antioch.

TOOTH KNOCKED OUT BY INJURY—WHAT NOW?

Tommy was riding his skateboard down the driveway. He lost his balance and fell to the pavement. He wiped the blood from his mouth and found his upper front tooth in his hand. What do you do? Luckily, your dentist can deal effectively with this kind of dental emergency. But he'll need your help.

Collect the tooth and replace it in the socket at the site of the injury. Have your child (or you) hold it there until you reach the dentist. This will keep the tooth in its natural environment and extend the opportunity for a successful replantation. If this is not possible, wrap the tooth in a wet cloth or place it in a glass of water. Don't linger! The chances for a successful replantation are best if done within 30 minutes to an hour after this mishap.

Some parents rush their child to the dentist, but in their haste forget to bring the tooth. DON'T FORGET THE TOOTH! And don't try to clean it yourself — even if it looks messy. What you think is dirt, may actually be soft tissues that will help the healing process.

Sand castles fill the air at Family Beach Splash Party

As if at a tropical beach, families will create swirling, soaring sand castles at the Hastings Lake YMCA Family Beach Splash on Friday, July 28 from 6 to 9 p.m. at the West Camp facility off of Grand Avenue.

Using sand and art materials provided by the Y, adults and children will work together to build castles complete with high-flying turrets, shark-filled moats and many more fanciful features.

Other Splash Party activities will include volleyball, archery, basketball, water relays on the waterfront, swimming in the indoor and outdoor pools, and a beach party cookout. Hastings Lake YMCA Family Beach Splash is free for Y members or $15 per non-member families or $5 per non-member. For more information call the membership office at 356-4006.

Camp

"The campers know you're a CIT and they listen to you. They pay a lot of attention to the CITs and they listen to what we say," McClellan said.

One of the activities is follow day where the CITs follow a counselor and spend time with the campers. Faith Johnson of Chicago mentioned she liked working with the younger kids and they wanted her to stay with them longer.

Carrie Santo of Grayslake said the camp is an opportunity to do a lot more things than she normally would do.

"There's a lot more to do at camp. It's a lot better than sitting at home and watching TV," Santo said.

One of the CITs, Danielle Evers of Antioch, wasn't feeling too well in last week's 100-degree heat, but definitely wanted to stay with the group and finish her training.

Once they complete the CIT training, they can come back next year and stay with the counselors in the cabins. If successful in the next phase, they become a counselor.

Former Chicago Bear leads LV football camp

As the Lake Villa Township Timberwolves football league kickoff its inaugural season, league organizers want to point out some important dates.

Lake Villa finishes 20-0, looks to state tourney

KEVIN HANRAHAN
 Staff Reporter

Undefeated in the regular season and determined to win the state tournament—that's the unfolding story behind the Lake Villa A Pony team.

Lake Villa capped off its 20-0 season by blanking rival Antioch A Travelers 5-0 in the regular season finale.

Big bats and a heroic catch were the keys to victory for Lake Villa.

Lead-off batter Pat Straub began the scoring with a solo homer, and teammate Brett McCollum followed suit with a solo dinger of his own to give Lake Villa the quick 2-0 lead in the first inning.

"It was sort of like de ja vu," Lake Villa Coach George Zorich said of Straub's blast. Straub opened the first contest against Antioch with a homer earlier in the season. "He took a 2 and 2 count and jacked it over the fence."

Taking the 2-0 lead into the third inning, Lake Villa was able to preserve the shutout thanks to a spectacular catch by center-finder Nate Zeller. With an Antioch runner on base, Zeller snatched a shot from Antioch's Brandon Clutts whose ball was destined for homerun territory.

"He had to sprint 10 feet, leap at the fence, caught it with one foot down and went flying over the fence. It was a great catch," Zorich explained.

He added, "He saved a two-run homer which would have tied the game."

Lake Villa answered with three more insurance runs in the bottom half of the third.

Straub singled and Dan Pendergast walked. Both were safe on a double steal. Straub eventually crossed the plate on a pass ball, and Pendergast scored on an RBI-single by McCollum.

Lake Villa wasn't finished. McCollum went on to steal second and was advanced to third on an infield grounder by Jason Schuler. Ryan Davis knocked home McCollum with a single to complete the scoring.

Straub went the distance on the mound for Lake Villa.

"It was one of our goals at the beginning of the season to go undefeated," Zorich noted. "The other goal is to win the state tournament. Another goal is to develop the kids for high school baseball."

Zorich credited a solid pitching staff of McCollum, Brad Marchialdon and Schuler for the team's unblemished record. Straub and Pendergast were two other surprise pitchers on the mound for Lake Villa, Zorich said.

Lake Villa's lineup has also developed a deadly potency.

"We've got good hitting from top to bottom, but clearly our top five hitters have produced a lot of RBIs for us," Zorich said.

Having gone undefeated in the regular season, Lake Villa now has its eyes set on the Sandy Koufax state tournament to be hosted in Antioch July 26-29. Lake Villa will have to get by perennial powerhouses Rockford and Joliet in its pursuit for the state crown.

"There are always tough teams that come from Joliet and Rockford," Zorich said.

Before competing in the state tournament, Lake Villa will host and participate in a 10-team tournament this weekend. Top teams from Wisconsin, Palatine and Rockford will make their way to Lake Villa.

"We're going to be practicing hard for the Lake Villa tournament and the state tournament," Zorich said.

Antioch's Eckenstahler assists Gurnee Legion

A few timely hits and the one-two pitching combination of Billy Duncan and Eric Eckenstahler proved enough to send top-seeded Gurnee to the second round of the District 10 tourney.

Gurnee Post 771 shutout North Chicago 4-0 as Billy Duncan gained the win. Eckenstahler came in the fifth inning and fanned the first six batters he faced before a clean seventh-inning infield single.

"I did not throw for two weeks and that hurt me in my flow. I just wanted to get a few innings in," Eckenstahler said.

The Antioch standout is headed to Illinois State University to play baseball.

Duncan improved to 5-1. The two and Joel Dangel are Gurnee's top three pitchers. "Those three guys normally will not walk anyone," Hill said.

Mike Cenni had the key hits for Gurnee (21-10), as he singled and had a 2-run double in three trips.

"We are a better hitting team than we showed tonight. But you want Cenni up in those situations because he has that attitude," Gurnee Coach Rick Hill said.

"We have not played since last Sunday, so it took awhile to see the ball. At the first at-bat, he pitched around me. The second hit was a pitch inside," Cenni said.

Shane Cannon got the only hit off Gurnee pitching. With one out in the seventh inning, he sent a shot which deflected off Eckenstahler. Shortstop Cory Clark tried to make the throw, but Cannon beat it out.

"He makes contact," Cannon said of Shane. "We have been watching Eckenstahler since Colt league. He is a top-notch pitcher."

Gurnee scored its first run before its first hit.

Todd Elfert was hit by a pitch, stole second and third and scored on a double steal after Duncan walked.

Cenni's 2-run double came in the fifth inning after Eric Bradley walked, Clark singled and Brad Salata walked. After a force out at home, Eric Hunzinger's RBI single scored Cenni.

North Chicago had Wauconda's number this year, winning three times, the third to advance to the first round at Faulkner Field.

Gurnee Legion earns CLC spot with pitching, defense

The hits may not be coming at the clip Gurnee Legion Coach Rick Hill would like for post-season, but enough pitching and defense can make up for a lot.

The defense and pitching are big factors behind Gurnee (22-10) advancing to the final four of the District 10 Legion tournament. A 5-1 win over Lake Zurich completed the two wins necessary to play at College of Lake County in Grayslake July 21-22.

"We are not hitting the ball, but we have all week to practice," Hill said.

Joel Dangel gained the win as he fanned 5 batters and let the defense do the rest.

"I had not pitched in three weeks, so I had trouble getting warmed up. But I threw strikes and the guys made the plays behind me," Dangel said.

Gurnee seems to be world-beaters against District 10 teams, whom they have not lost to yet, but struggle when not playing their neighbors.

"We know the importance of these games, and coach puts a big emphasis on them. It is like playing conference games in high school," Dangel remarked.

Mike Cenni walked and later scored Gurnee's first of two runs in the first. Brad Salata then had an RBI single for the second run.

Gurnee added a third run in the third and padded to its lead with some aggressive baserunning.

Dangel walked, and Lee Deaton was the pinch-runner. Cory Clark singled, and both runners moved up on a wild pitch. Another wild pitch allowed Deaton to score and a bases-loaded walk scored Clark.

The defense did the rest in the seventh inning as the game ended on a double play.

Eric Hunzinger continued his good hitting with a single. He also drew a pair of walks. Hunzinger will be attending Western Illinois Univ., where he hopes to be a walk-on to the baseball team.

Antioch pitchers peak for tournaments

After a loss to McHenry, the Antioch Travelers bounced back to win four in a row before dropping the final game of the year to Lake Villa.

The Travelers A team finished its regular season 17-8 in the Pony League.

Against Vernon Hills, Antioch took advantage of a 6-run first inning to come away 12-6 victors. John Logan pitched three scoreless innings, and Luke Haley and Brandon Clutts stepped up in relief.

A 12-4 victory against Fox Valley was highlighted by the pitching of the Clutts brothers. Both Ryan and Brandon Clutts split the effort and were aided by a three-run homer by Ken Chichon. Logan contributed with three hits to further the offensive cause.

Brandon Clutts got the nod against a tough Winthrop Harbor squad. Both teams exhibited a defensive battle in the 5-4 Antioch victory. Trailing 4-3 going into the bottom of the seventh, Antioch took this one down to the wire.

With one out in the bottom of the seventh, Logan smacked a single and scored the tying run on a Dan Shaunessey triple. Brandon Clutts' sacrifice fly to left scored Shaunessey for the winning run.

A 4-1 win against Richmond was spurred by the strong pitching of Tom Baird and Ryan Clutts, each throwing three innings. Chichon slammed the door in the seventh by striking out the side to seal the victory for Antioch.

Antioch Coach Steve Gaulin has been impressed with the team's pitching staff, which four-hit Richmond. "Walks were hurting us in early games, and now our pitchers are in control," Gaulin said.

Antioch dropped a 5-0 game in the season finale against Lake Villa.

Gaulin said the pitching is peaking just in time for the Antioch Tournament and the state tournament July 26-29. Antioch will host the state tournament this year.

"Going into the Antioch Tournament and the state tournament, our pitching is critical to our performance," Gaulin said.

Antioch All-Stars compete in regional

If victories could be measured by heart, the Antioch 11- to 12-year-old All Star softball squad could very well be District 16 champions.

But the final score is what determines wins, losses and championships, and Antioch was on the losing end of a 19-7 championship game which sent the Mundelein All-Stars to Elgin for a chance at the sectional crown.

Despite little practice time, Antioch Coach John Coari was able to assemble a group of All-Stars from Antioch's in-house program. The All-Stars defeated Grant 11-6 to advance to the championship game against Mundelein.

Mundelein caught Antioch off guard early by scoring 8 runs in the top of the first, giving Antioch an up-hill battle before ever reaching the plate.

After Mundelein extended its lead to 10-0, Antioch reached the scoreboard in the bottom half of the second inning. Four walks in the inning accounted for the two scores. Brianna Richter crossed the plate for the first run on a pass ball, and Jessica Ortiz patiently gained an RBI walk to force home Sara Groh.

Antioch scored twice more in the third to cut the lead to 10-4. Christina Balczynski opened with a walk and scored on Erika Brown's double. Her hit was Antioch's first of the game. Abigail Thomas also singled in the frame.

Mundelein threatened to end the game in the fifth inning when they built a 16-4 advantage.

Antioch did not stop fighting back, as the All-Stars bought themselves an extra inning of play by scoring three runs in the fifth to reduce the deficit to 16-7.

Brown began with a walk, Groh slapped a Texas Leaguer for a single, and Thomas was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Richter smacked a three-run triple to the fence to clear the bases.

"We've got a very good team. I'm really proud of the way they kept fighting back," said Coari. "Mundelein had some solid hits and good base running."

Mundelein ended the game in the sixth with three runs to force the slaughter rule.

"They all did a fantastic job," Coari commented on his Antioch All-Stars. "We went right from our in-house season to the playoffs. I think the girls did a great job in the short amount of time."

Antioch All-Stars included Christina Balczynski, Sara Groh, Lori Barr, Becky Gillengerten, Jamie Knuth, Kelly McCarville, Brianna Richter, Amy Mueller, Abigail Thomas, Christine Eaton, Jessica Ortiz, Erika Brown, Laura Weber, and Chassity Bray.

Run for freedom winners

Linden teams face tough competition in qualifier

The Lindenhurst Bullets, Magic, Raiders and M.A.C. all competed in the National Qualifier Tournament this past weekend with the M.A.C. team bringing home the only victory.

None of the Lindenhurst teams were able to qualify for further national competition.

Bullets

The (U-14) Bullets played conference games against Gurnee and Buffalo Grove and won both of these games.

The Bullets led from the start against Gurnee and cruised to victory. The Buffalo Grove game witnessed the Bullets coming from behind to gain their second victory in two days.

The ASA Qualifier in Blue Island was a bad experience as some players could not attend. This situation, coupled with a last minute illness, caused the Bullets to forfeit the entire tournament. Several new players have been added to the Bullets roster to finish out the season.

Magic, Raiders

These two 16 and under teams gave their best effort in Rockford but faced tough opposition pitching in both of their double elimination losses.

The Magic again moved up two young Bullet players to fill out their roster while the Raiders managed to give all their rostered players an equal opportunity to compete in this ASA National Qualifier.

MAC

The (U-18) M.A.C. team did win in Orland Park but were not able to continue to advance and thus were also eliminated from national competition.

The entire Lindenhurst traveling softball program will participate in the Reedsburg, Wis. annual fastpitch tournament this weekend.

This tournament was purposely scheduled to allow all four teams and their parents a chance to get together at Devil's Head Resort for a weekend of relaxation mixed with softball competition.

The Bullets also have conference games with Gurnee and Northbrook during the week.

By Request D.J. Service first in firecracker tournament

For the fourth consecutive year, the First National Bank of Antioch sponsored the Antioch Firecracker Sports Tournament at Williams park.

The tournament included Co-Ed volleyball coordinated by Tom and Carol Furlan, Crazy Co-Ed Softball coordinated by Tom and Cathy Shaunessy and Guys and Gals 3 Point Basketball Shoot coordinated by Tom and Carol Furlan, Crazy Co-Ed Softball coordinated by Tom and Cathy Shaunessy and Guys and Gals 3 Point Basketball Shoot coordinated by Vickie Axton, JoAnn Osmond and Linda Pedersen.

In Crazy Co-Ed Softball, first place Snafu took home $200, second place Maki Construction $125 and third place Limerick $75. Ten teams started the competition.

The cash prizes in the Guys and Gals 3 Point Basketball Shoot varied depending upon the number of entrants in each division from $10 to $65. There was a total of 85 entrants.

As they have for the past four year as well, the First National Bank also sponsored the Pony Rides and Petting Zoo with free admission on Saturday during the Childrens Festival.

First National Bank is employee owned with full service locations in both Antioch and Gurnee. This is the fourth year the bank has sponsored the Independence Day tournament.

Team F was the first place winner in the consolation division at the co-ed volleyball tournament.

Flying Elvis was second place in the consolation division at the co-ed volleyball tournament.

White Sox traveling training center coming to Antioch

White Sox Training Centers, the traveling youth instructional baseball and softball camps organized by the Chicago White Sox, will be coming to Antioch at Williams Park July 31 through Aug. 4 for softball camps for girls run from 8 to 11:30 a.m. each day.

These training centers are aimed at providing instruction in all aspects of softball to girls from 7 to 14 years old. There will be over 200 camps organized throughout the Chicagoland area in conjunction with local park districts and community organizations.

"We believe that it is vital to the future of baseball that the game continue to be played and enjoyed by kids everywhere," said Rob Gallas, White Sox senior vice president of marketing and broadcasting. "Well coached kids have more fun. That is why the Sox are extremely excited about offering local softball organizations a helping hand in teaching the game to our youth."

The instructors and curriculum of the White Sox Training Centers will be matched to the age and skill level of the student. In addition to intensive instruction in the fundamentals of hitting, fielding, baserunning and throwing, special attention will be given to position play as well. The softball training centers are completely separate from baseball training centers and feature many of the top softball teaching specialists in the game.

Registration is underway and enrollment is limited. Players are encouraged to register as soon as possible. The cost for a one-week program is $159. Each student receives a training center T-shirt and hat, two White Sox tickets, a training center equipment bag and other surprises. Third annual Walczak golf open benefits cancer society

The third annual Michael J. Walczak Memorial Open was held at Antioch Golf Club by his family and friends. One hundred twenty-two golfers participated in the nine hole shotgun start tournament. Following the tournament, 140 guests enjoyed a buffet dinner in the club's banquet facilities. Proceeds from an auction and raffle held after the dinner, in the amount of $6,600, went to the American Cancer Society in Walczak's name.

Walczak was a long time Lake County resident and a well-known Country Companies Insurance agent. In December of 1992 he succumbed to cancer at the age of 46. His wife, Beverly, and two daughters, Nicole and Jessica, reside in Antioch. His stepson, Dan Pendleton, resides in Sullivan, Wis. with his wife, Anita, and two sons.

Walczak was born and raised in Milwaukee, the youngest of eight children. Family and friends traveled from across Illinois, Maryland, Florida and Wisconsin to participate in the day's event. Family and friends as well as many local merchants, Lake County and Wisconsin businesses donated items to make the auction and raffle such a huge success.

Some of those who donated were: Antioch Golf Club; NW Lake County Country Companies Agency; Pickard China; Fabry, Inc.; In-Laws Restaurant; Nevada Bob's; Heather Ridge Golf Course; Mark-It Company; Lake Forest Hospital; ClinTec; Darts and More; Dee's House of Pets; Scott's Brewery Collectables; Last Chance Saloon; Village Green Golf Course; Four Winds Golf Course; Lindenhurst True Value; Melody TV and Electronics; Crossroads of Ivanhoe; Raymond Chevrolet; Enterprise Rent-a-Car; Fox Lake Country Club; Losch Distributing; S&K Custom Golf; Body Mind Dynamics; Chessharon Beauty Shop; and Local 200 Milwaukee.

The family wishes to thank all who participated in this benefit for the American Cancer Society.

First Chicago's Antioch branch displays local high school art

School may be out for the summer, but the partnership between The First National Bank of Chicago's Antioch branch and Antioch Community High School is still going strong.

The partnership will be highlighted throughout the summer with 10 framed art pieces, painted by the students, displayed in the lobby of the branch at 425 Lake St. At the end of each semester, 10 new framed art pieces will be shown.

"We believe this type of recognition gives the students a boost and gives the community an opportunity to recognize the students' artistic talents," said Jeff Mulder, president of the Antioch branch.

"This is just one way for the school to say 'thanks' to First Chicago for their continuous support throughout the school year," said Sarah Redd, chairperson of Fine Arts for Antioch Community High School. "This partnership is a special opportunity for the students that will positively impact them for the rest of their lives."

Under the partnership, First Chicago also co-sponsors the school's "Athlete of the Week" program which provides a college scholarship for Antioch Community High School students.

First Chicago's Antioch branch is among the more than 80 branches of The First National Bank of Chicago, which provides leading edge banking products and services to retail and business customers throughout the Chicago metropolitan area. The First National Bank of Chicago is the tenth largest bank in the country and a subsidiary of First Chicago Corp.

Fertile land attracts early settlers to the region

Part one in a part five series

RUTH SUTTON & MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporters

The following historical profiles are the first in a five-part series exploring the many aspects of life on the Chain O' Lakes. The series will examine the area's past, present and future.

French first to see Fox Lake

French explorers in the early 1600s were the first white men to visit the Fox Lake area, but Indians long preceded them, according to the official history of Fox Lake produced for the village's golden anniversary in 1957.

In 1836 this part of the American frontier was opened to white settlers by federal government treaty with the Indians. The rich and fertile land teemed with wild rice, game and fish. Adventurous pioneers already had staked out homesteads on land they liked, usually with water frontage.

There is no record of any serious violence having befallen any of these families, though the Indians already had firearms. Only their little boys were still using bows and arrows.

The first post office in the area was established in 1838 at Fort Hill, now Fairfield Rd. near Rte. 120. In 1849, it was moved to Big Hollow (then called Goodale's Corners, later named Dighton and, finally, Grant). The earliest recorded town meeting and election took place there in 1850.

A post office called "Fox Lake" was established in 1859 at Monaville (by Fairfield Rd.) a busy farm town in Civil War days. Mail came by stage coach from Little Fort (Waukegan) three times a week and was distributed by buggy, horseback and boat.

What became the village of Fox Lake was then known as Nippersink Point. All roads ended at Oak St. until a bridge was built during World War I, using wood because of a metal shortage.

The railroad reached Ingleside in 1899, called "Fox Lake" station, and was finished in 1900 to "Nippersink Point." Later the stations were renamed Ingleside and Fox Lake.

Fox Lake was granted its village charter on April 13, 1907. In May they elected John Brown, a storekeeper and original postmaster, as the first village president.

The Fox Lake Volunteer Fire Dept. also was founded in 1907. The department had a horse-drawn pumper and a hose-reel on wheels that could be hitched up to horses or pulled by hand. Outbreak of a fire was heralded by ringing a bell atop the village hall.

The village well and water system was set up during the 1920s, financed by water assessments on all property owners. See CHAIN page B2.

Gages Lake residents seek safer lake

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Hot weather and a deep, clear lake were ingredients which added up to disaster at Gages Lake.

Residents say the lake has experienced a crowded summer and the boating accident which claimed the life of a four-year-old toddler was one waiting to happen.

Brittany Holbach, age 4, was pronounced dead at Condell Medical Center at 7:50 p.m. July 16. She and her brother were passengers in a boat driven by her father. The boat was hit by another and capsized.

"The weekends are pretty crowded. The weekdays, it depends," James Neal said.

The victim's brother, Chris Holbach, 9, was transported to Condell Medical Center July 16 and later to Children's Hospital of Chicago. Her father, Michael Holbach, was listed in serious condition at Condell Medical Center.

Child killed in boating accident

Grayslake Fire Department, officials, are meanwhile praising the efforts of residents in helping victims to shore.

"They did quite a job," Grayslake Fire Chief Don Mobley said.

Grayslake, Round Lake and Gurnee fire departments all sent boats or divers. A later report of a fourth victim proved to be unfounded.

The mishap is under investigation by Lake County Sheriff's Department. The accident took place at about 7 p.m. as two boats collided.

"This is an on-going problem. There is one guy on the lake with a 175 MPH horse power engine," George Cejka said.

Cejka, a 40-year Wildwood resident, is vice president of the Idlewild Improvement Association. The homeowners group is charged with such things as maintenance around the lakeshore and equipment, but not the lake itself. Gages Lake is in Wildwood, under jurisdiction of Lake County Sheriff's Department.

"There should be a maximum of 50 horsepower on the lake. That is enough for a jet-skier or a joyride, but not enough to kill someone," Cejka said.

Cejka, a 40-year resident, said there used to be an "unwritten rule" that dusk to dawn is for fisherman and dawn to dusk is for powerboats. Now anything goes," he said.

"The boat is too big for the lake," Lynn Dunne, a 10-year resident, said.

Robbery likely motive in Hainesville slaying

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

Officials believe there are two possible motives for the murder of Ronald Pecore, 47, which took place in Hainesville.

The theft of around $60 in cash and $100 in food stamps are what police believe to be grounds for the slaying. Witnesses observed an argument in a public location the day before the murder between Pecore and Gary Matney, who has been charged with the crime.

Another motive or contributing motive may be a family matter. According to police, there are rumors of an on-going affair between Genevieve Webb, Matney's mother, and the victim.

"I have heard that argument," said assistant Lake County states attorney Jeffrey Pavletic.

Hainesville police sergeant and acting chief Clarence "Buzz" Hodges said, "It was rumored, but not confirmed." Webb came into the police station voluntarily to answer questions after the July 7 slaying, and the issue was brought up briefly. "She knew him (Pecore) and she said she fixed him meals," said Hodges.

Pecore's sister and brother, Debbie and Jack Campbell, agree there has been a 10 to 12 year relationship between Webb and Pecore.

"I guess he was in love with this woman," said Jack.

Jack believes more than one person is responsible for his brother's murder. "I've seen Gary fight and he couldn't fight his way out of a wet paper bag," said Jack.

Police said it wouldn't have been very difficult to knock Pecore unconscious, since he had been drinking. Jack agreed his brother was an alcoholic.

Authorities said after Matney's arrest, he implicated himself in Pecore's slaying and admitted to striking Pecore with his hand, then dragging him to the Rte. 120/134 railroad tracks where he was later hit by a Metra commuter train.

Pavletic, however, sees no relevance in the alleged affair. See SLAYING page B2.

though lines were only extended to streets with buildings. Conversion to residential from resort began during the 1930's depression, as unemployed workers moved to their cottages when unable to continue paying rent in the city.

The village also benefited from government projects by the Works Progress Administration and Civilian Conservation Corps. They helped build new roads, bridges and seawalls, fill in sloughs and level hills.

The Fox Lake Public Library opened in 1939 as WPA Project 80032 with a grant of 1,200 volumes. It was initiated by the Fox Lake Women's Club, who agreed to serve as the local sponsor without pay.

The first school was built in 1841 at Fort Hill. Three years later came the Gavin, Big Hollow and Fox Lake schools, and the former "brick" school (near Nippersink and Wilson Rds.).

St. Bede's Catholic Church dates back to the first settlers. The Ingleside Methodist Church began meeting in homes around 1897. Fox Lake Community Church started as a non-denominational congregation in 1926, Trinity Lutheran at Long Lake in 1940 and the Fox Lake Baptists in 1955.

population estimates ranged from 200 to 400. A booklet advertised 34 hotels and resorts, five taverns, four boat lines, two boat builders, two livery stables, two clubs and 16 other businesses.

The village population count totals 7,500 as of the 1990 census. The Fox Lake Area Chamber of Commerce and Industry lists 168 member businesses.

Formerly blocked on the north by Nippersink Creek, Fox Lake now stretches northward past Rte. 173, westward into McHenry County and southward to Big Hollow.

Both housing and business developments are booming as the village nears its 90th anniversary in 1997.

Antioch carries religious name

Founding fathers Darius and Thomas Gage, along with their friend, Thomas Warner were the first recorded settlers to lay claim to the area commonly known as Antioch. Until 1836, Antioch was home to the Pottawatomie Indians. But, by 1838, five families staked their claims in the area and called Antioch home.

Along with the families came religion, through which, Antioch came to be named. Since many of the area residents were members of the Disciples of Christ, the name, Antioch, was quite appropriate.

In 1850, Antioch became an official township. And, during that referendum, the name Antioch was reaffirmed.

As the community developed, schools began to spring up in the area. Emmons School, which is still used today, was built in 1844.

Businesses also began to make a foothold in Antioch during those early years. By 1850 the town boasted a hotel, shoemaker, tailor, blacksmith, lawyer, and post office.

After the Civil War, the industry of tourism began to take hold in Antioch. Those residents who settled on the lakes of the region began to convert their homes or even build new resorts and hotels. Summer visitors as well as fall hunters flocked to the area.

The "Egyptian Lotus Beds" on Grass Lake became a major sightseeing attraction. Never mind that the water flowers were neither rare nor Egyptian, visitors flocked to the area to tour the lotus beds.

Another boon to the tourism industry was the arrival of the train in 1886. The Wisconsin Central Railroad made five daily trips from Chicago to Antioch.

The Village of Antioch was incorporated on Feb. 29, 1892. Two years later, the first bank, now known as the State Bank of the Lakes, opened its doors.

Ice became another important industry in Antioch. Ice houses dotted the lakes for many years and could be found on every lake.

Before the turn of the century, several serious fires changed the face of Antioch. As a result, the Antioch Volunteer Fire Department was formed in 1913.

Prohibition hit the tourism industry hard. In a 1916 referendum, only Antioch and Grant Township voted to remain "wet." By 1920, some resort owners took to "home brewing" to continue to provide alcohol to visitors and residents alike.

Eva Fields, who died last year was a walking wealth of history. Listeners could sit for hours and listen the history of Antioch and Lake Villa.

"I was born in a snowstorm," said Fields in an earlier interview. "The blacksmith rode into Hainesville to get the doctor."

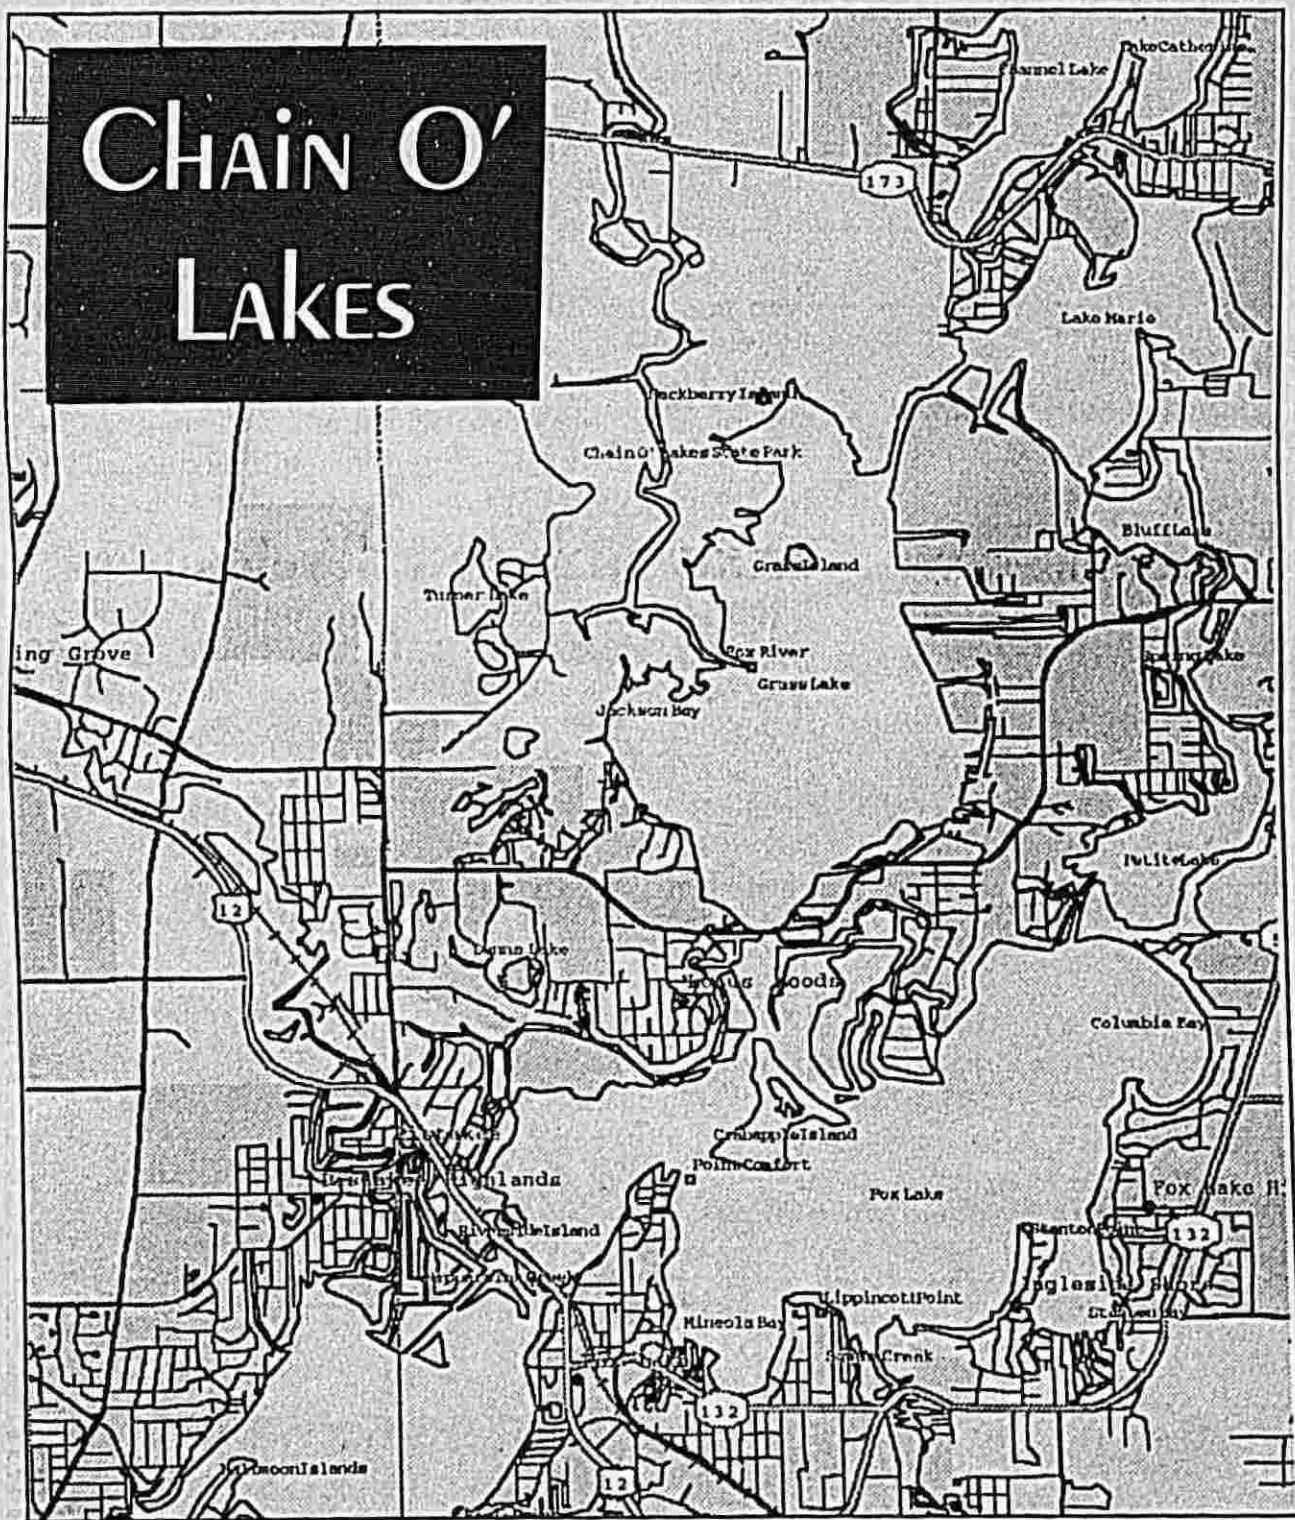

Fields was born six miles south of Lake Villa on Jan. 10 1894, in a town called Monaville. In 1911, she came to Antioch and worked as a cook for the Old Simons House of Antioch. She went on to work for 21 years at the Antioch Community High School in the cafeteria.

Dorothy Leable (formerly Spiering) has lived in the Antioch area for about 69 years. She attended Hickory School, which was located on Route 45.

"It was a one-room school," said Leable. "Then I went to Antioch High School."

Leable worked in the family business, the Castle, for a number of years. The Castle was located on the corner of Routes 45 and 173. "It was a restaurant, dance hall, and tavern," said Leable.

Overall, Leable is happy with the changes in Antioch over the year. "You got to have progress," she said. — by RUTH SUTTON & MARY FOLEY

Lake County Forest Preserve seeks 855 acres in western Lake County and how it comes into play with the murder. "The fact is this guy was struck down and dragged to the railroad tracks. What does it really matter [the affair]?" asked the assistant states attorney.

Pavletic said it would be up to the judge to say what information will be allowed in the courtroom.

On Wednesday, Matney faced the Lake County Grand Jury.

According to officials, Matney had been staying at his mother's home at 94 Fairlawn, Hainesville.

He is being held on $3 million bond and is charged with first-degree murder.

by the Lake County Forest Preserve and Acquisition Committee at their July 13 meeting.

Approval of a notice of intent to acquire five parcels, ranging in size from 40 to 500 acres, now will be considered by the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners at their July 26 board meeting. The notice of intent is the first official public expression of interest by the forest preserve board and follows review of the property and contact with the owners.

The proposed lands meet many of the land acquisition criteria set forward in the successful 1993 Forest Preserve bond referendum, approved by 61 percent of Lake County voters. The purchases would provide a route for a planned greenway and multi-purpose recreation trail linking forest preserve and community trail systems in western Lake County. The purchases also would preserve natural woodlands and wetlands, provide wildlife habitat, assist in flood control and add to existing forest preserves.

"The nature preservation and recreation potential of these 855 acres is tremendous. Western Lake County will experience considerable growth over the next decade and it's important to preserve open space for public use and enjoyment while it is still available at a reasonable cost," said Jim LaBelle, forest preserve president.

"This is what land acquisition is all about," said Suzi Schmidt, Forest Preserve Land Preservation and Acquisition Committee Chair. "We are working with the property owners and preserving the best forest preserve lands for the Lake County residents."

The land parcels proposed for purchase include the 115-acre Breeden property located at Gossell and Fairfield Rds., the 80-acre Roney property located on Gilmer Rd., the 120-acre Chicago Title and Trust property located on Gilmer Rd., the 40-acre Forsberg property located on Gossell Rd., and the 500-acre Sargent property located on Illinois Rte. 60.

"Based on the contacts we have had with the owners of these properties so far, I am hopeful we can complete these acquisitions in a manner that is agreeable to the district, the property owners and the public," said LaBelle.

The Forest Preserve Land Preservation and Acquisition Committee now will continue negotiations with landowners to determine fair market value and other purchase considerations. There are currently 19,165 acres of Lake County Forest Preserves.

AT A GLANCE

Town key to school situation

LAKE VILLA TOWNSHIP—How the township schools deal with the school overcrowding issue has repercussions in the Grayslake and Antioch high school districts. Lake Villa Elementary District officials are considering creating a K-12 district within their boundaries. However, Board President Craig Kressner said such a plan is at least eight months to a year away from being a reality. He said other options, such as a consolidation of Antioch and Grayslake high schools have met with opposition.

Village honors investigators

HAINESVILLE—Three part time police officers have been cited with meritorious medals for cracking a case of murder in the Village of Hainesville. Officers Ted Meeker, John Sapyta and Mike Wisniewski first thought the death of Ronald Pecore, 47, was a suicide. But foul play seemed apparent. Gary Matney, 34, is being held at the Lake County Jail in lieu of $3 million bond charged with first degree murder. Matney allegedly beat Pecore unconscious and dragged his body to the train tracks. "We're very pleased we have a suspect [in custody]. It's the best thing for the town, the area," said Meeker.

Village forced to make cuts

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Village trustees were forced to make $400,000 in budget cuts because of a $1.2 million deficit in the general fund, according to Round Lake Beach Mayor Ralph Davis. Davis said village staff noticed expenses were exceeding revenues. Because of the error, trustees went into secret session last month and fired Finance Director Steve Timmons. In the wake of the discovery, Davis has vowed to revamp the finance department and make it more efficient.

Residents to zap speeders

VERNON HILLS—Vernon Hills Chief of Police Gary Kupsak has taken community policing one step further. Through the "Citizen Speed Control" program, citizens will be armed with radar guns to monitor and record speeds of vehicles on neighborhood streets. The police will supply two radar guns to target areas where speeding is believed to be a problem. Community members will monitor and record speeds for a week and give data, including vehicle make and license numbers, to the police department. Kupsak said the police will then mail notices to violators and warn them of their speeding. No violations will be issued. He said the program will help the department direct speeding enforcement to specific areas.

Arrested for sexual assault

LIBERTYVILLE—Eliceio J. Montejo, 28, 808 N. Milwaukee Ave., was arrested after admitting to sexually assaulting two young boys. On July 4, a Libertyville resident brought her four children into the police station and stated her two boys ages 5 and 6, had been sexually abused by an upstairs neighbor, Montejo, while he was giving them a bath. After interviewing the boys the police found the two had been fondled and the 6-year-old was sexually assaulted. Police then interviewed Montejo, who admitted to fondling the two boys and sexually assaulting the 6-year-old. Montejo is charged with aggravated criminal and sexual assault. His bond was set at $50,000.

Stolen firearm causes damage

MUNDELEIN—Residents in a home located in the 300 block of Rye Road awoke July 14 to find a small hole in two of the walls of their home. Police were called to investigate the incident and found a bullet had gone through two walls and was sitting on a wall-mounted shelf in the second room. After following the holes and aligning them through the neighborhood the officers went to a home located on Banbury and asked permission to search the home. They found the room that was in alignment with the holes in the rooms of the damaged home. A hole in the room's window screen matched up with the holes in the other home. The 16-year-old living in the home admitted the hole came from the .22 caliber rifle he had stolen while at camp in Wisconsin. He was charged with reckless use of a fire arm and was taken to Hulse Detention Center in Waukegan.

Taste of Antioch opens

ANTIOCH—The annual Taste of Antioch and Maxwell Street Days begins with fanfare on Thursday night. An opening ceremony is planned at 5 p.m. The Taste is a community-wide effort featuring the local cuisine and four days of entertainment. Maxwell Street Days is Antioch's sale of the year offering discounted items from local merchants. The four-day event runs July 20 through 23.

Swindlers target elderly

GRAYSLAKE—Police have issued a word of caution to home owners, especially the elderly, after three men swindled a Grayslake woman out of $800 for a phony home repair. Grayslake Police Sergeant Matt McCutcheon said the woman "in her 80s" was approached in her home by three men who offered to fix the cracks in her foundation. After she paid the price of $800, they sprayed a black, oily substance on the foundation and left. The woman did not know she had been swindled until her daughter arrived minutes later. When the police arrived, the woman was still confused as to what the commotion was about. McCutcheon said the black substance is being tested, but con artists often employ used motor oil for their false home repairs. The woman was not able to describe the offenders but police did get some information from neighbors.

Chamber drops Miss Pageant

GRAYSLAKE—Citing too little time and too much expense, the Grayslake Area Chamber of Commerce has withdrawn its sponsorship of the Miss and Little Miss Grayslake contests, effective with the 1996 pageant. However, Chamber President Linda Wegge-Slipke sees the Chamber having a small roll in future pageants because the pageants are inherently good for showing community spirit. Wegge-Slipke said it is possible a business, civic organization, or collection of the two could begin sponsoring the pageant next year.

LAKE ZURICH—Paulus Park will be the place to be July 22 for teen-agers who want to hear their contemporaries play in a rock concert to benefit the Oklahoma City relief fund. Five high school bands—four from Lake Zurich and one from Mundelein—are set to play all afternoon with proceeds going to the American Red Cross, said Jason Woods, a student at Lake Zurich High School. "Woods-stock" will start at 1 p.m. with bands playing until around 8 p.m. Admission is $5. Paulus Park is located off Route 12 north of Route 22.

Gospel group needs voices

WAUCONDA—Tell The World, a contemporary gospel group, is looking for people to help spread the word. The Christian singing choir based out of the Evangelical Free Church of Wauconda has toured churches in Lake and McHenry Counties the past 15 years, and is hoping to make "Sweet 16" a year to remember. Concerts are held Sundays evenings. New rehearsals start July 30. For more information, call Walt Martin, group director, at 526-8306.

Trudy Lane new development

FOX LAKE—Named after his wife of many years, a project by land developer Mike Hellios, located east of Grass Lake Rd. will begin within the next several weeks. An official groundbreaking ceremony took place July 13 at the five acre site adjacent to Leisure Village in Fox Lake. There will be nine lots on Trudy Lane, each varying in size, from 14,000 square feet to about 24,000 square feet. Single family homes with lots will be constructed at a cost near $165,000. Trudy Hellios is the new Fox Lake Area Rotary Club president.

COLLEGE OF LAKE COUNTY FALL CLASSES

Building Career
CONFIDENCE

How do you stay competitive in today's job market?

When Art Hughes of Libertyville found he enjoyed installing the computer system in his office and teaching others to use it more than he did selling insurance, he knew a career change was in his future. All he needed was the proper training to establish his credentials, so he turned to the College of Lake County.

"I got associate degrees in both microcomputers and programming and then I worked for two years as a computer technician. Today I'm a technical project manager for an area company. The training I got at CLC opened new doors for me," Art said.

We offer the solution at the College of Lake County.

If you're seeking to start a new career, update your skills or gain new ones, the College of Lake County can provide the training you need at a cost you can afford.

Registration for fall classes is underway. Classes start August 28, 1995.

Yorkhouse Rd. ruling clouds political stench

County officials are doing their best to put a smiley face on an Illinois Dept. of Conservation ruling that, in the least, has raised a go slow flag on the smelly maneuvering involved in extending Yorkhouse Rd. through Forest Preserve property to make way for land development that will benefit private interests.

IDOC denied a land swap between the county and the Forest Preserve Dist. designed to attain highway right-of-way. The Springfield response to a permit application elicited huzzas from opponents and a spate of tap dancing of comical proportions on the part of politicians and staff.

With a straight face, Steve Messerli of the Forest Preserve Dist. called that state denial an indicator to find more suitable Forest Preserve land for swapping. Delmer "Dusty" Powell, second in command of the Lake County Div. of Transportation, must have been choking when he said the IDOC communication should "in no way be construed as a rejection of the land swap." County Board Rep. Pam Newton (R-Vernon Hills), who also is Forest Preserve Dist. vice president, cooed plaintively, "All we were trying to do was plan for the future."

Allow one more spin on the latest development in one of the most controversial, convoluted county highway projects in a long time. In the most genteel manner possible, IDOC was saying that the whole Yorkhouse Rd. extension plan stinks to high heaven of politics and that the proponents ought to fold up their tent before the Grand Jury gets involved.

Yorkhouse Rd. is an issue that won't go away. The state ruling gives citizens fighting the highway plan something to hang their hat on. IDOC sent the politicians scrambling to find a coat rack.

Core subject time standards tested

Here's a homework assignment for parents of grade school age children and persons interested in elementary education. Check your local school district to find out how much time is being spent on core subjects—science, math, social studies and language arts.

Chances are total time allotted for the basics will be less than the National Education Commission on Time and Learning that recommends five and a half hours per school day for core subjects.

Elementary Dist. 67 in Lake Forest has launched a project to add an additional 20 minutes per day for core subject teaching for the 1995-95 term without lengthening the school day. School officials believe they can accomplish this goal by trimming lunch time and time between classes.

Next year Dist. 67 aims to lengthen the school day. Good luck. We're wondering how teachers and parents will react to efforts to make the school day more productive? Will they drag their feet or participate enthusiastically?

LETTERS TO THE Editor

Military, kids need school

Editor:

Now that the Fort Sheridan Joint Planning Committee of Lake Forest, Highland Park and Highland officials have unanimously reached an agreement on the Richard Stein proposal to build a new, affluent residential community at Fort Sheridan, the question remains: Where will the 350 military families be relocated?

To Lake Forest? Of course not! That type of resident does not fit the elitist image the Lake Foresters think of when they think only of themselves. Never mind that the military has served and protected the county that has allowed Lake Foresters to prosper and enjoy the good life when someone such as the military were there to defend all of us.

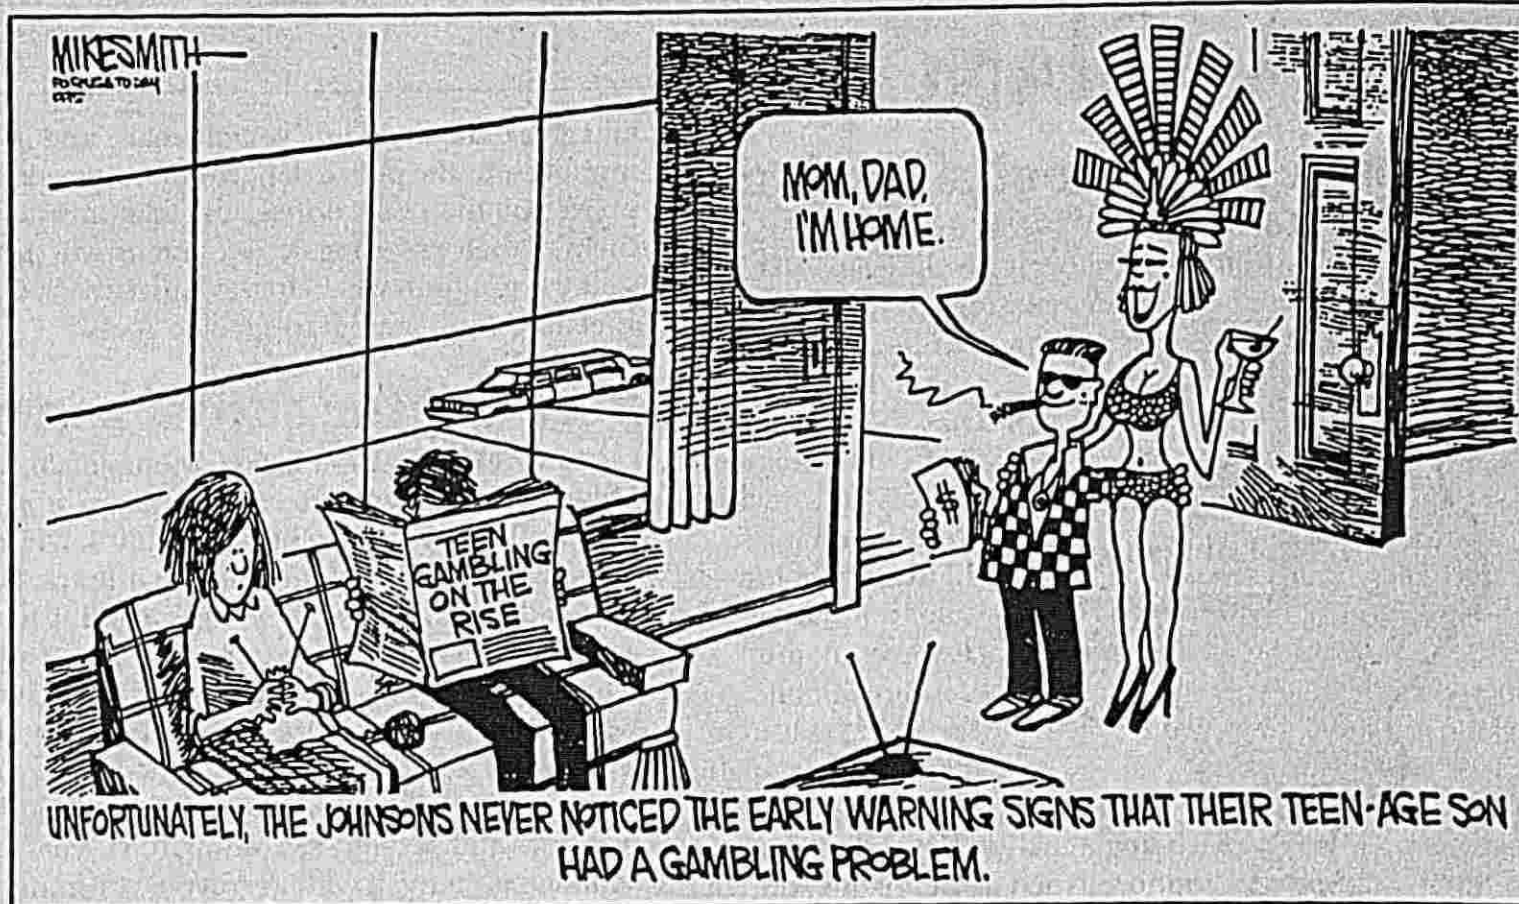

To Highland Park or Highland? Of course not, for some of the same reasons. They, too, don't trust or want the military personnel.

Popular notions of protecting open space, saving the golf course, recycling the old historical district all sound good at public meetings and in the press. But underlining the unanimity of the committee is the military children in their local schools. Packing up the military dependents and shipping them and their kids to the "neighborhood of excellence" is the common cause that united the joint planning committee.

But where will be this "new community of excellence"? No one is saying.

Let me think. It should probably be in reasonable proximity to Great Lakes. Certainly excellence indicates other high quality and excellent communities nearby. It will not be the North Chicago or Round Lake school districts because they're two of the worst financially strapped

Fan support depends on player attitudes

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

As long as baseball players are paid as much as rock star weirdos and enjoy the lifestyle of movie stars, the national pastime is going to have problems connecting with mainstream America.

When our diamond heroes were carpenters, bartenders and school teachers during the off season, fans could relate to them. With the exception of their God-given athletic talents, baseball players in bygone days were regular guys, the same people during the off season you'd rub elbows with at the corner tavern or work a shift at the mill.

The local guys who made it all the way to the big leagues lived in towns like Waukegan, Johnsburg, North Chicago, Grayslake—not Scottsdale, Palm Springs or Boca Raton.

Baseball attendance is down 19.1 percent, TV ratings are flat and sales of licensed goods are way off. That says a lot of fans are fed up with the way players and owners have abused a game that has meant so much to America for so many years.

Johnny McCarthy, one-time Yankee first baseman, settled in Mundelein and put his carpenter skills to good use making a living. Guy Curtwright was best known as a war-time outfielder for the White Sox, but Lake County fans also knew him as a teacher at North Chicago High. Waukegan's Johnny Dickshot could wallop a baseball a mile—when he connected—but he also knew how to set'em up and what it was like to sweat in one of the lakefront factories.

Chuck Hiller was a slick fielder and good hitter for the San Francisco Giants, as well as handle about every job in the family construction business in Johnsburg. The Klaus brothers, Billy and Bobby, were big league infielders from Ingleside for the Red Sox and Reds, respectively. They also had real life off-season jobs during their playing days.

Grayslake's Jay Hook signed for the then princely sum of $65,000 as a bonus baby in the late 1950's to pitch for Cincinnati, but he kept up his college studies during his playing days to qualify as an engineer when a baseball career would become history.

Hey, these guys were both heroes and friends to a lot of fans because we related to them as people. They didn't have an entourage of accountants, agents, lawyers and PR counselors so they could make money in the summer playing a kids game.

There's no question that both fan interest and fan financial support of major league baseball is eroding. Detroit's Big 3 finally woke up that they weren't the only ones manufacturing automobiles.

One of these days the players and owners will learn they're not the only ones playing baseball.

DOPEY QUESTIONS—Last week's furnace-like temperatures had everyone asking the same questions, "Have you ever seen such heat?" In a word, yes. Or the sappiest inquiry of all, usually intoned with nasal monotony, "Is it hot enough for yah?" Well, yes.

About hotter days, the memory came back about helping my uncle shock oats on his farm in Vernon Township. Naturally, his young helpers were moaning about the blistering July sun beating down on the newly cut grain field. "We'll go swimming tonight, after our work is done. But for the fun of it, let's see how hot it really is?" Uncle George offered. So he perched a thermometer on an oats shock and stepped back for a reading. "Well, it's only 114," he sighed cheerily. "Let's get this job done."

I've got a topper. This time work wasn't involved. Only joyriding in a small airplane in Arizona during a break in Army duty. Taking a refueling stop at what today is Phoenix International, I asked the attendant handling the hose about a temperature check. "Only 115 today. No big deal," was the reply. Maybe so for desert regulars. But it was a big deal for me!

HOME ALONE—Harry Milbourn enjoys being left alone. He doesn't read newspapers or magazines. He's got a television set that gathers dust. Harry conducts a self-appointed crusade to keep unsolicited advertising mail from being delivered. And it's not junk mail, either. "That stuff is garbage. I won't stand for garbage being dumped in my mailbox," Milbourn bristles. Don't think, though, that Milbourn is exiled from the real world. He's in touch. Milbourn is a ham radio operator. All those wires sprouting from his home near Wauconda and backyard are antennae. "I get all the news and information I need from my radio contacts." In a world suffocating from conformity and political correctness, Harry is a man apart.

NO POLITICS—Lake County's political clock stood still a few days last week as powerful County Board Chairman Bob Depke took time out to battle some flu-like symptoms. Oldtimers around the County Building searched their memories for the last time Depke was ill and forced to miss meetings. Barring elective surgery a few years ago, they couldn't recall his failure to keep a meeting appointment. "Proves he's mortal," a courthouse wag joked.

PARTY LINES

Green Oaks facing hurdles in quest for more respect

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

Call Green Oaks Mayor Tom Adams the Rodney Dangerfield of the Lake County Municipal League.

Adams is on a quest for respect for Green Oaks, until recently almost totally residential, and born three decades ago in retaliation over being swallowed up by Libertyville.

One of the tools being employed by Adams is acquisition of a single ZIP code. Besides being served by the Libertyville post office, Green Oaks residents east of the Tri-State Tollway get mail delivery from Lake Forest and Lake Bluff.

The rub for Adams is that some of those folks kind of like the North Shore touch to their mail, although they won't admit it. Trustees Margaret Pross and Virginia Wood insist that Green Oaks businesses with a Lake Bluff or Lake Forest ZIP would incur economic hardships changing letterheads. Oh?

Adams also has run into a rumble strip getting industrial Rondout, aquired in a southern annexation move, assimilated in the upscale community.

Wide open—For county Democrats the magic number is 11. Or is it 12? There are 11

Buhai

Republican seats on the Lake County Board up for election in 1996. The Democratic Central Committee vows to have competition for every Republican running for reelection. Five Democrats on the board have indicated they will be running for reelection.

More than a few Democratic insiders wouldn't be unhappy if Rep. Bob Buhai (D-Highland Park) faces a primary fight next spring. They say they've tired of Buhai continually voting for GOP causes and with the Republican majority. So a magic number of 12 isn't totally impossible.

Well organized—Tim Hatten, Republican chairman in Benton Twp., and Gary Reynhout, Republican chairman in Wauconda Twp., aren't a bit amiss that they don't have Democratic counterparts in their perspective townships. "Just shows how well we're organized," they claim.

Being watched—Opponents of County Board Chairman Bob Depke cast covetous glances at Mark Ratfelders, Gurnee trustee, as a challenger for the county board next year. Learning of this, one Depke supporter replied, "The only way Ratfelders can challenge for the county board is move to another district."

Break up—Wending through the courts quietly are divorce proceedings between Mundelein Mayor Marilyn Sindles and Round Lake Beach Police Chief Ed Sindles. The action caught their friends who respect and admire them totally off guard.

Fair talk—Officials of Grayslake and the Lake County Fair Assn. are tightlipped, but they're talking informally about how the village would utilize fair property at Rtes. 45 and 120 for development if the association ever relocated.

The fair board reportedly is eyeing a spot on Tempel Smith property near Wadsworth. The fair has been a Grayslake fixture since 1956. Don't believe the controversy over the village levying an amusement tax on the fair. That's part of the gamesmanship.

Lost and Found—County Board Commissioner Pamela Newton found herself coaxing a 7-year-old child who was lost following the fireworks and laser show in Vernon Hills. Minutes after the show, which drew between 10,000 and 15,000 spectators, a downpour ensued forcing thousands to make a mad dash for their cars. Newton sat with the lost child for an hour and half before a worried mother arrived in tears. "I was using my preschool talents," Newton commented. "We were talking about the Power Rangers." Newton heads a Vernon Hills preschool when she is not busy with county business.

Busy month—Several members of the county board are celebrating birthdays in the month of July. Chairman Bob Depke celebrated his 66th year July 11 along with Asst. States Attorney Mitchell Hoffman. Depke missed out on his birthday cake due to illness which kept him in bed on the special day. Other July birthdays include: Dick Raftis and Martha Marks, who celebrate the same day, Pamela Newton, John Schullen, Judy Martini and Audrey Nixon. If Party Lines missed anyone, give us a call.

Who's who—A list of guests for a evening of dining aboard the Blue Moon yacht owned by Arlington National Racetrack owner Richard Duchossols reads like a who's who in Lake County politics. Invited to the gala in Waukegan Harbor were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Depke, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stanczak and Ms. Debra Halas, all of the county board. Other guests included Waukegan Mayor Bill Durkin and his wife. The topic of conversation for the evening? Could it have been riverboat gambling?

Depke's plans—Don't count on Lake County Board Chairman Robert Depke bowing out of the political scene any time soon. Depke said he plans to run for the county board again in 1996.

He said his 1997 attempt for Warren Township Supervisor will be his last. That would mean new century, new supervisor at Warren Township, where Depke has delivered the services for more than 30 years.

On the homefront, Depke is hoping electors and then voters on the Nov. 7 ballot agree to a small tax increase for an addition to the senior center. Establishing a 2 cents per $100,000 assessed value home would cost $10 a year for a $150,000 assessed home.

He's staying—Long-time Gurnee residents showed a sign of strength at Gurnee Village Hall Monday. Judges to teenagers showed up in support of Mayor Richard Welton. He obliged by saying he will finish his term. He had said the people will let him know if they want him to stay as mayor after the family grocery business was turned over to wholesalers.

Welton has earned the admiration of his last challenger, Meg Skalla. "I'm glad he is up there (running the meetings). He is doing a wonderful job. I would support him if he ran again," she said.

districts in the state and that could cause the plan to fail.

I've got it! Why not find a site, or two, or three in one of the richest school districts in the state such as Oak Grove in Green Oaks.

Perfect! Lake Somerset, Equestrian Oaks, Reigate Woods, Forest Glen, Huntington Lakes, Woodhaven Estates, Ashford Trail, Terre Fair, Saddle Hill and Regency Woods all wonderfully sounding neighborhoods of excellence.

There is one problem; all of these fine name subdivisions are built or building, except one. No—do you think one of the three parcels destined to become a community of excellence would be in Green Oaks?

Time to site new landfill

Editor:

The fate of the USA Waste's application for expansion of Countryside Landfill near Grayslake is now in the hands of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Although I laud the newly formed Solid Waste Agency of Lake County (SWALCO) in their efforts to remedy Lake County's immediate and ever-existing solid waste problems, I remain dead-certain that siting a new regional state-of-the-art landfill would have been a more environmentally and economically sound decision than expanding a site, through documentation, already heavily laden with toxic waste and, in my opinion, already a super-fund site.

No doubt, siting a new regional landfill is a task more monumental than the mountain of garbage that will be created at the proposed expansion site. Efforts should have been directed toward that goal at the inception of U.S.A. Waste's application.

The expansion, if approved, is still a short-term solution. There will always be a need for landfills and, with foresight, in an ever rapidly growing area like Lake County siting a new state-of-the-art landfill now should be second only to recycling waste reduction.

The August 1995 issue of Redbook depicted how residents around a toxic-laden landfill in a town of New Jersey were cancer-ridden by contaminants from that landfill. Adult women who visited the nearby lake as Girl Scouts experienced different ailments of cancer, including fist-sized cysts on their ovaries. The wildlife habitating in and around that lake were mutating, having two bills, one eye or only one wing.

This is not an isolated case. Similar cases are occurring all over this county. The issue is not an (NIMBY) issue, either. Contaminants can travel in ground water for miles before entering a particular aquifer, lake river or wetland.

Lake County can deal with these issues now at menial costs, reduced health hazards and less environmental impact as compared to later, as million-dollar super-fund sites having done irreparable harm to the environment and inhabitants.

Tax article irresponsible

Editor:

An article in the July 7 issue entitled "Mortgage deduction threatened by Feds" was a great example of presenting a political point of view as if it were news. It is highly irresponsible to discuss the elimination of the deduction out of context with the other portions of the bill. The mortgage deduction changes for the flat tax are coupled with a reduction in the tax rate for a revenue neutral result.

There are advantages to the flat tax. First, the tax form shrinks from a multi-page nightmare to postcard size, making life easier for the middle class. Hours spent on taxes can be spent in leisure or earning. Second, the size and power of the IRS would decrease. Most audits would be a thing of the past since creative accounting and deductions would no longer be under scrutiny.

I believe you could remedy the disinformation you have disseminated by running another article entitled "Feds suggest tax rate reduction."

Column not documented

Editor:

I am writing to formally object to the negative comments printed in your June 30 Party Lines column. In this column, unnamed sources allege that there is "bickering" going on regarding credit for completion of a historic boundary agreement between the villages of Antioch and Lindenhurst.

Your own reporter, Alec Junge, wrote a balanced article about the joint signing of the agreement at a Lindenhurst village board meeting in the June 16 edition of the Antioch News-Reporter. At that meeting, mayors and trustees from both villages were present.

Antioch's press release distributed at that meeting read, in part, as follows: "The Antioch village board feels the public interest is best served by the creation of boundary agreements between villages. Currently many parcels of land lie in unincorporated areas between Antioch and Lindenhurst. Some of these parcels are included in the comprehensive plans of both villages. This important agreement will help prevent discord between villages as development occurs because developers will not be able to negotiate with both villages regarding density and other issues." All participants in the agreement, as well as county officials, were thanked.

Why was it necessary for you to create conflict where none exists? During our conversation, I asked you to please name the source of the printed comments, and you declined to do so. You said that the purpose of the column is to "be provocative and stimulate discussion." I stated that in the interest of fairness, your column should not contain inaccurate, unsubstantiated information. Without documentation, your Party Lines column is little more than "Lipservice" about public officials.

Former Trustee Larry Hanson, whom you also mentioned in your column, and I have conversed and agree there is no "bickering" regarding credit for the boundary agreement, nor was there any in the past. Statements in your column are without foundation.

More 'Cookbook' Ingredients

Editor:

I would like to add several ingredients to Gurnee Trustee Mark J. Ratfelders community recipe.

1. A strong ethics ordinance that would ensure the citizens of Gurnee that all potential conflicts of interest are publicly documented.

2. A Freedom of Information Act ordinance that would guarantee public documents are readily available with minimal red tape.

3. A complaint policy designed so that less assertive citizens' problems do not fall between the cracks.

4. Purchasing policies and guidelines that fully and publicly document that the village receives the best pricing and services when spending the taxpayer's dollar.

The above represent the minimum ingredients a responsible village board that respects the constituents that elected them would have in the village pantry. I encourage Trustee Ratfelders to take the initiative to get these policies enacted.

year's fare will include Appalachian music and folktales told by David Holt, twice named Nashville's Old Time Banjo Player of the Year; and old English stories brought to Spring Grove by Taffy Thomas of Grasmere, England. Jim May will tell stories about growing up German-Catholic on a Spring Grove farm. There will be Chicago neighborhood stories from Susan "Supe" O'Halloran, tales from the African-American culture by Diane Ferlatte, literary gems from Carol Birch, and, of course, Saturday night's Ghost Stories program, where after a bit of optional square dancing for the whole family, listeners by the

Students from many lands share American school year

STEVE PETERSON

Students who call Budapest and Moscow home were wearing t-shirts advertising towns such as Fargo, North Dakota.

For the last academic year, the 38 students from 24 countries were not calling major metropolitan cities in Europe home, but small town America as they took part in American Field Service's annual exchange program.

"This is a transitional time for the students and for their host families," Cindy Bergner said.

Bergner is coordinator of AFS for Lake County.

For the sixth straight year, the road to New York has included a four-day stopover in Grayslake. A gathering at the Ming residence, complete with a talent show, preceded tearful good-byes as Bus 41 made its way to New York.

Water Tower, the Nike Store, Hard Rock Cafe and Michigan Ave.," Bergner said of the group's Chicago stay.

Bergner is a firm believer in the benefits of AFS.

"The students have strong goals and ideas. AFS is a stepping stone for them," Bergner said.

Daniel Nougy of the Czech Republic spent his year in Ortoneda, North Dakota.

"It was fun. I was a member of the student council," the Prague resident said. "It was great. I liked the different neighborhoods the most."

He will continue his international experience as his father is an ambassador to Ireland.

Unni Christensen, from suburban Oslo, Norway, said he most enjoyed shopping in Chicago and seeing all the tall buildings.

She stayed in Wahpeton, North Dakota, where they had no sports clubs such as commonplace in the life of an Oslo teen-ager.

"I met a lot of people from all over," Ki Yoe, from Japan, said. "School was easy but because I could not speak English, it took some time."

"This is a wonderful group of students," Peggy Ming, president of AFS in Italian exchange student Nadia Marfelli watches as students and host families say their final good-byes before their departure. "That's what I hate the most about this trip," said one student, "is having to say good-bye all the time."

Grayslake, said.

A parade of nations, a la the Olympic Games, preceded the talent show. Everything from singing to jumping off a garage roof to a pool to native dances and piano playing were demonstrated.

The students had a chance to experience a Chicago heat wave. Even the mosquitoes seemed to not be as bad for this United Nations like gathering.

Ming and her husband, Jerry, hosted four students and had a former student visit. Jerry then escorted another bus of AFSers back to New York and was in the Cleveland area while the party was ongoing at his home.

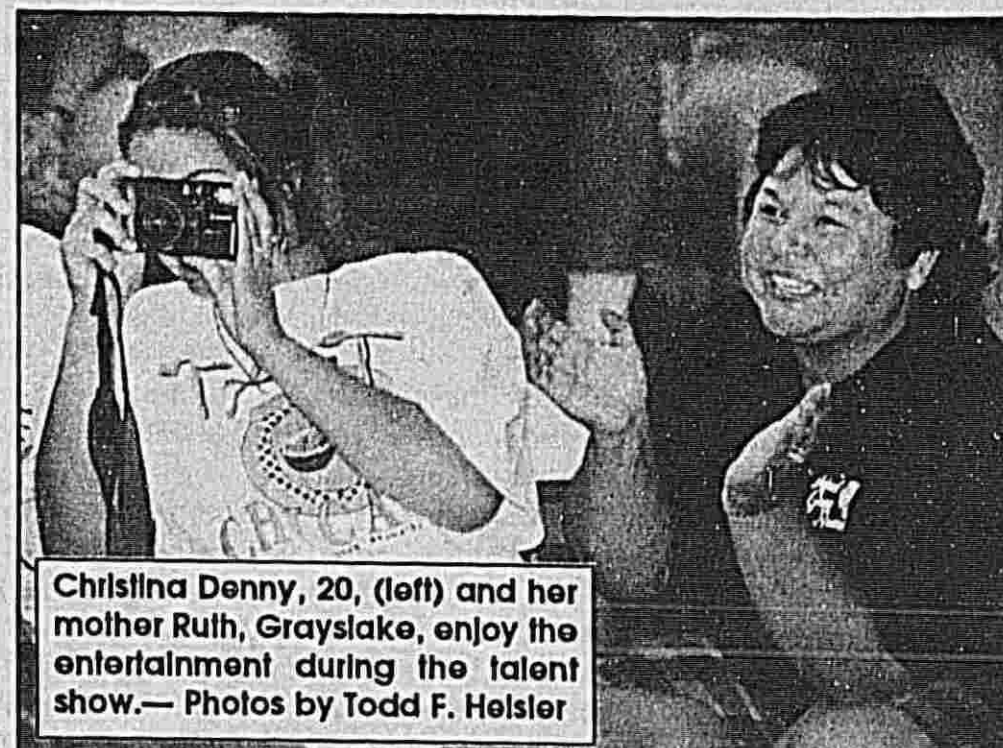

"I loved it. I only got to spend half a year here," Elisseeva Nadkeda of Moscow, said. She stayed in Devils Lake, North Dakota, which is about 9,999,800 less in population than Moscow.

Ming said AFS spans generations of families and it has. Aida Matos visited Grayslake in the 1960s. Her daughter, Marissa has visited and her son Victor may visit in a coming year from Brazil.

Bergner said anyone can be a host family. One is needed for the 1995-96 school year particularly in the Antioch area. For details, call her at 746-7059.

"It just takes the willingness to open your hearts and home to a young person," she said.

Wild Animals to Run Lose At New Disney Park! (And Other Disney News)

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Lions, tigers, unicorns, zebras and elephants will run lose at the largest Disney park ever built! Do to open in early 1998, Disney's Wild Animal Kingdom will be five times the size of the Magic Kingdom.

Yes, I did say "unicorns". Dinosaurs, too, will roam the African landscapes of this combination real/fantasy theme park giving visitors live action adventure with, as Disney puts it, "all animals that ever or never existed". (And you thought "Jurassic Park" was something!)

In true Disney fashion, educational, environmental and conservation messages will be combined with close encounters of the wild animals.

Since this is an amusement park, Disney promises "thrill rides" to be worked into the theme as well.

Disney's Wild Animal Kingdom will be located south of the Magic Kingdom across from Epcot Center in Florida.

Coming in the fall of 1997 to Disney World is a second adult entertainment district, similar to Disney's Pleasure Island. Actually an expansion of the current Disney World Village complex (doubling it's size) it will include a House of Blues nightclub, Lario's Latin-theme club and a Wolfgang Puck's Cafe as well as a 1,500 seat theater.

Also opening in 1997 is Disney's resort convention hotel, the Coronado Springs with 95,000 square feet of meeting space and 1,900 rooms. Get after your company meeting planner now, and maybe you can combined that annual sales meeting with a family vacation.

The details have not yet been announced, but you can count on some first class fun as Walt Disney World celebrates it's 25th anniversary (yes, it's really been 25 years!) from Oct. 1, 1966 all the way through the end of 1997. If Disney World is in your plans at all for the time, make your reservations early. I'd expect at least the "on-site" hotels to fill up quickly.

That little mouse, who got his start as a Sorcerers apprentice, sure has amassed quite a kingdom!

'Judge Dredd' futuristic reverse 'Rocky'

The summer action films continue. We have Mel Gibson playing a Scottish action hero, Bruce Willis defying death all over the place in the third "Die Hard," a new "Batman," plus Robin this time, and the "Mighty Morphin Power Rangers" debuting on the big screen.

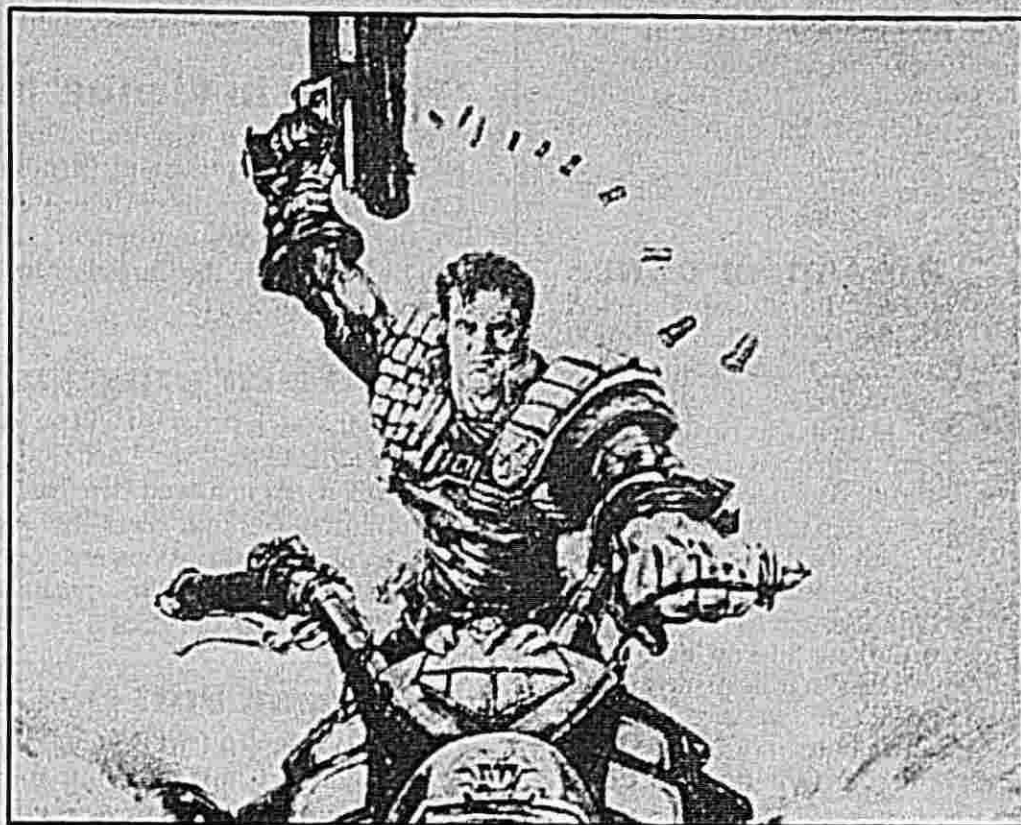

In "Judge Dredd," a cops and robbers movie set in the 22nd century, we have Stallone, looking like a kids' transformer and strutting like an overanxious West Point cadet, playing an all-in-one judicial system. That's right! He catches the bad guys, judges them, pronounces a sentence and then carries it out.

Diana Lane plays a female buddy judge and Max Von Sydow makes an appearance as a good-guy retired judge, somewhat of a mentor to Dredd. The big bad guy is, you guessed it, a big bad judge played by Armand Assante.

Through government collusion, the guys on the wrong side of the laser beam get rid of Von Sydow and Dredd is framed for a crime. With him off of the streets, they are soon overrun with vicious criminals having free reign under Assante's jurisdiction. Like "Batman" and "Dick Tracy," "Judge Dredd" is based on a favorite comic strip character, this time it's a British one, so realism is not expected, but Dredd is so robotic that it's almost a puppet-show. Never the loosest of actors, Stallone is the star puppet.

The Italian Stallion, who always plays the little guy winning the big pot against all odds, does a reversal in this one, starting out on top and then taking a big sci-fi slide, but you know going in that "Rocky" has to win!

We rate "Dredd" two out of five stars because some of the scenery is great, we did laugh at a few of Stallone's wisecracks and the action, ala an auto chase in the air, livens up the show a bit in the last third of the film.—by GLORIA DAVIS

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

Chain, chain, chain of fools

As anyone who is a Chain O' Lakes resident knows, it can be very embarrassing to live in this area and not own a boat. It doesn't actually have to float or anything—it just has to sit on a trailer in your driveway, so that your "boatless" house won't stick out like a sore thumb from your neighbors.

In the past, we tried putting the kids' plastic wading pool out on the driveway on a wheelbarrow (we even painted a name on the side—"Mucky Duck"), but nobody fell for it. The neighbors would just walk by and cluck their tongues in disgust.

So, when our friend Tom called us about a boat that was not only affordable but actually floats and has a working motor, we jumped at the chance. And when my husband pulled that boat into the driveway, we knew we had finally "arrived." Yes, at last we've become... BOAT PEOPLE.

I guess you could say it's a status thing. In some communities, membership in the country club (at the low, low price of, say, $40,000) is a symbol that you have "made it." But here in the Chain O' Lakes, you need to have only one thing—a boat. And you may not believe this, but SIZE is not important.

The name of the boat, however, IS important. It should be something clever, or a name that reflects your personality or your favorite hobby. Of course, you have to be careful what name you choose, since people may draw conclusions about you. For instance, I've seen boats with names like "Speedo Patrol" and "A Penny for Your Thongs." Gee, let me guess what their hobbies are?

There's only one drawback to this whole boat/status thing. Once you have your boat and a name, you're ready to hit the water—but NOT ON THE WEEK-END. Because, as anyone who lives in the Chain O' Lakes area knows, weekend boating on the Chain is for FOOLS more commonly known as Foreigners from Outside Of the LakeS area.

FOOLS, for the most part, can be easily identified, though I recommend that you remain safely on shore when observing them. Most FOOLS arrive via large packs of expensive four-wheel drive vehicles, much like lemmings, on Saturday morning, towing boats the size of semi trucks behind them, adorned with names like "Feel Like Making Waves." I don't know how they do it, but they all launch their boats at precisely the same time, usually 11 a.m.

From that point on, their behavior is predictable. After launching, they proceed proudly through the channels, revving their engines up as a warning to any forgetful residents who may still be lingering on the water. Once they see the end of the no wake area approaching (usually about 100 feet prior), they open the throttle on their 10,000 h.p. twin Terminator engines, causing a roar similar to the sound of a jet leaving O'Hare.

From there they fly out onto the lake, usually swamping a fishing boat or two and several duck families on the way. After circling the lake several times, just to be sure they've created tidal waves they can be proud of, they head to the nearest resort for a cocktail.

This pattern continues throughout each weekend day and well into the evening. Evening is especially fun when the FOOLS are out on the Chain. FOOLS, of course, thumb their nose at danger, as well as stupid laws that restrict the speed of boats at night. These dashing derring-do types chase each other madly across unknown waters, sometimes over hazardous piers, with but a tiny running light to guide them, stopping only long enough to throw up or to discard their beer cans in the water.

Finally, on Monday morning, the lakes become free once again of FOOLS and are available for use by taxpaying residents. Unfortunately, we now have to go to work.

It makes you wonder who the REAL fools are. Sing it, Aretha: "Chain, chain, cha-yai-yai-yain...chain of foo-ools."

Saddle up for 'Day at the Races'

An obvious "sure bet" is to join Chairmen Ron Revers, Sr. Margaret Eisele from Barrington, and Lorraine Drews from Iverness for the "Seventh Annual Day at the Races." The Saint Anne Ministries of Hope benefit will begin at noon on Sunday, Aug. 6.

With colorful table centerpieces created with pure chocolates, "How Sweet It Is" is the theme for this day to enjoy the thrill of thoroughbred racing, beautifully presented gourmet food and the camaraderie of others in the elegant Governor's Suite. Guests will enjoy private Mutuel Lines, a professional handicapper, large patio overlooking the homestretch at Arlington International Racecourse.

Illinois names top beef recipe

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

A new beef recipe offers a winning combination of convenience and great taste. Skewered Southwest Steak, which features beef grilled with a Tex Mex flair, can be prepared in 35 minutes.

Created by Diana Woodland of Chicago, the recipe is one of 15 finalists in the 1995 National Beef Cook Off. The recipe took top honors at the Illinois Beef Cook-Off before advancing to the national competition and a chance to win $25,000. The 1995 national Beef Cook-Off will take place Sept. 22-23 in Little Rock, Ark. The next National Beef Cook-Off will take place in Tampa Fla. in 1997. For rules write to National Beef Cook-Off Entry Information, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, 60611.

Skewered Southwest Steak

1 beef flank steak (about 1 1/2 pounds)

salt

lime slices

fresh cilantro sprigs

Marinade:

3 large cloves garlic

1/2 cup fresh cilantro, lightly packed

3 tablespoons reduced-sodium soy sauce

2 tablespoons olive oil

2 tablespoons fresh lime juice

1 tablespoon jalapeno sauce or 1 teaspoon hot pepper sauce

1 1/4 teaspoons ground cumin

Soak 12 10- or 12-inch wooden skewers in enough water to cover for 10 minutes; drain.

Place garlic in blender container. Cover; process, pulsing on and off, until garlic is finely chopped. Add remaining marinade ingredients; process until mixture is blended.

Trim fat from beef steak. Cut steak diagonally across the grain into 1/4 inch strips. In medium bowl, combine beef and marinade; toss to coat. Marinate 10 minutes.

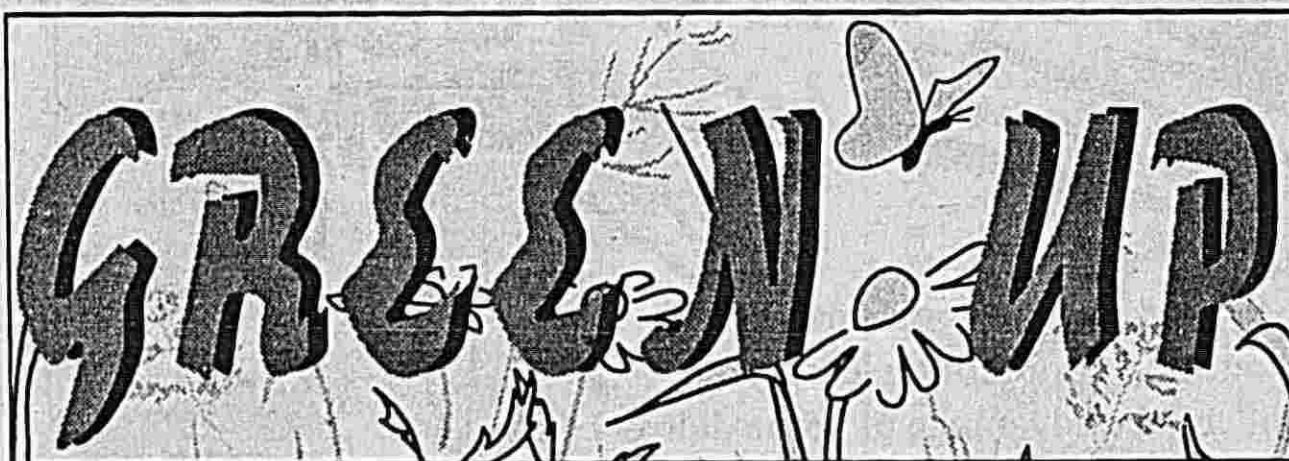

Thread an equal amount of beef, weaving back and forth on each skewer. Place beef on grid over medium ash-covered coals; grill uncovered 4 to 6 minutes for medium rare to medium doneness, turning once. Season with salt, as desired. Garnish with lime and cilantro sprigs, if desired.

Willow Review writer receives award

Elaine Fowler of Champaign received an award from the Illinois Arts Council in recognition of a poem, "Tracks," published in the Willow Review, the literary publication of the College of Lake County.

Fowler's poem was printed in the 1994 edition of Willow Review. In addition to the literary award, companion awards of $1,000 each are given to both the writer and the publication. The awards are intended to both recognize the creative excellence of Illinois writers and to promote a general awareness of non-commercial publishing in the state.

The Illinois Arts Council is a state agency that acts as a catalyst to promote the continued vitality of the arts. The council also provides grants and technical assistance to community arts agencies, individual creative artists and not-for-profit organizations which sponsor arts activities.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You could find a business matter a bit confusing. A heart-to-heart talk will eliminate the potential for any misunderstandings with a loved one. Be sure to listen to what's being said. The weekend favors romance.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Advice you receive this week could be somewhat misleading concerning a financial matter. Try not to let daydreaming interfere with concentration on the job. New plans are made regarding home improvements.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) The early part of the week could bring a delay in business or some complications on the job. Creative interests are especially favored toward the latter part of the week. In romance, keep a level head.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You still could be waiting for news from afar. Be patient. When it arrives, it's all good news. Judgment is good about financial interests. Shopping for the home is a plus later in the week. The weekend brings some confusion among friends.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You could face a delay about a money matter this week, but this is strictly temporary. Despite the waiting, it's an excellent time to sell yourself and your ideas to others. Don't let daydreaming impede your concentration.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A loved one isn't exactly as enthusiastic as you are about an item you plan to purchase for the home. Try to achieve a compromise. At work, it's best to keep important financial developments secret.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You could find routine work boring this week, but still try to stay on top of things. Talks with friends are very rewarding, particularly private conversations. This weekend, you receive valuable feedback for your ideas.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You should be careful of whom you confide in this week. Someone is just waiting for a chance to sabotage you, so be wary. It's not a good time to entrust others with secrets. A private business meeting reaps results.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A home concern could weigh on you early in the week, causing a lack of concentration and productivity. Later, you hear from friends at a distance who could have the answers you're seeking. Lending money isn't favored.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) As the week unfolds, you'll see that something you agonized over early in the week was needless. Talks with bigwigs bring positive results in the middle of the week. It's important that you clarify your objectives.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) The early part of the week could bring a financial concern. Agreements with others are easily reached this week. Signing contracts and forging new alliances is in your best interest. Partners are in sync now.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You could feel a friend has let you down in some way this week. Go easy on your use of credit. You need to keep a closer watch on your budget. Couples make major decisions involving mutual funds.

LAKE COUNTY—Ameritech's prices in Illinois, already among the lowest in the country, will be reduced another $40 million. Ameritech is providing these savings to its Illinois customers as the first annual adjustment under a price regulation plan proposed by the company in 1992 and approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission last October. The overall package reduces consumer rates by about $23 million, business rates by about $15 million, and charges that long distance companies pay to use Ameritech's local network by about $2 million. In addition, consumers are guaranteed no increases through 1999 in their monthly line charge or charges for calls in their local calling area.

Vet turns early desire into caring career

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Ed McGinniss wasn't the usual child when it came to pets. When his tropical fish and small rodents had ailments, he would try to diagnose the problem, then determine the proper treatment. They weren't the kind of animals one could take to the veterinarian, so he took it upon himself to provide proper care.

When he was in junior high, his mother finally relented and got Arnie, a cocker spaniel mix. He was elated. He had wanted a dog for as long as he could remember and he has had a dog ever since.

He knew even then he wanted to become a vet.

Now the president elect of the Chicago Veterinary Medical association, McGinniss went on to the University of Illinois to study agriculture science and veterinary science. Eight years later he emerged with two bachelor of science degrees and his coveted title, Doctor of Veterinary Medicine.

He worked in several clinics, including one in Bristol, Wis. and a six and half year stint in Arlington Heights. About the same time he moved to the village two years ago, he decided it was time to venture out on his own and open the Animal Care Center of Lake Villa on Rte. 83 just south of Grand Ave. Judging how the growing area is reflected in his expanding customer base, McGinniss feels he made the right move. As an avid cyclist, the open space lifestyle that still remains suits his liking as well.

"I just love it here," he said.

His practice is in-house only, primarily seeing small domestic animals with a few fur bearing exotics mixed in. Just like specialists for human medical practice, doctors who work with animals generally try to specify as well. In fact working on animals can be even more specialized because the physician is working with a number of species, each with its own unique medical

Bank merger a 'win' for County

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

When it comes to how the First Chicago/NBD Bank merger will affect Lake County, at least one bank president doesn't mince words.

"There is no doubt we have always wanted more presence in Lake County. It will be a win for us and the customer," said Jeff Mulder, president of First Chicago's Antioch branch.

If approved by stockholders, the second largest bank merger in the country's history will blend five First Chicago branches with ten NBD branches. Mulder could not answer what branches may be closed in the merger but First Chicago has stated it would likely eliminate up to 1,700 jobs, most of which would come from duplicating branches. With that formula, branches in Lake Forest, Highland Park, Deerfield and Lake Zurich could be suspect.

Mulder said the merger, which would create the Midwest's largest bank with assets of 120 billion-will probably be closed at the "beginning of 1996." In March, all banks would become First Chicago NBD Corp. banks. Just what the merger could include in services and account structures could vary but the largest source of speculation is that all branches will have the $3 teller fees imposed for some customers.

Other products that will most likely cross over are First Chicago's checking debit card, which acts as VISA, and First Chicago's profitable interest bearing VISA. Receivables in 1994 for the First Chicago VISA card were $12.1 billion, the fifth highest in the nation behind heavyweights such as Citicorp and Discover.

Mulder said the merger will give the new bank more capital to invest in community banking. It also opens up First Chicago to another segment of the market with supermarket banking at the NBD location in Round Lake Beach's Super Kmart. Mulder said the in-store bank concept fits the changes society is encouraging in the banking industry.

"People expect there to be banks everywhere," Mulder said.

Just did it

Attending the function were (from left) bank President Ken Birchard, assistant Vice President and Doers Club coordinator Bernie Remblake and First Bank Illinois President Jay Williams.

No one right answer for life insurance

Term insurance is attractive because overall it is the cheapest form of life insurance—at least at the outset. For young, healthy people, term insurance payments tend to be as little as one-tenth the size of the initial payments of cash-value policies providing the same dollar amount of death benefit.

This often substantial difference in premium levels is the origin of the advice to buy term insurance, instead of a cash-value policy, and invest the difference between the two levels of premiums. On the surface, such advice may seem sound. But some financial experts, such as William Brownlie, author of The Life Insurance Buyer's Guide (McGraw-Hill, 1989), contend that this piece of advice is impractical. Most people lack the discipline to consistently invest the money they save through purchasing term instead of cash-value insurance.

Although generally less expensive at the outset, term insurance does have drawbacks. The cost of term insurance premiums is certain to rise every year and can become prohibitively high around age 65 or for people whose health deteriorates.

Cash-value insurance payments tend to remain level until the policy has been paid for in full.

Term insurers can and do cancel or refuse to renew the policies of those who contract a major illness such as cancer. Term insurance generally is unavailable to people age 70 and older because their risk of dying is so much greater. This is precisely the age when those who have large estates and desire protection from inheritance taxes most need life insurance.

A paid-up cash value life insurance policy, on the other hand, remains in force without regard to the age or health of the person insured. Another advantage to cash-value life insurance is the savings. Cash-value insurance forces its purchaser to save with each premium paid.

So which is best? The consensus among insurance experts is that term insurance is best for those whose insurance needs will last no longer than 10 years, or whose income prevents them from acquiring more expensive cash-value life insurance.

For example, a person requires life insurance until her 12 year old son is finished with college. Or a young couple just starting a family needs some sort of life insurance but cannot yet afford the steep bill for cash-value life insurance. Some term policies can be converted later into cash-value life insurance.

Most experts say cash-value life insurance is cost-effective for the wealthy who require large sums at death to settle estate taxes, or for the affluent whose insurance needs will last longer than 10 years.

From C1 needs. "You have to know the species' differences. Tylenol is toxic to cats and is not that good for dogs. I recommend aspirin to cats but you still have to be careful," McGinniss said.

If McGinniss does not handle a certain species, such as exotic reptiles, he knows what specialist he can refer the owner to for service. He can also refer animals to clinics with special equipment, such as a CAT scan at a clinic in Deerfield.

As of Jan. 1, 1996 McGinniss will begin the daunting responsibilities at the helm of the CVMA during its 100-year anniversary. The Association has a multi-faceted mission. Top on the list is the continuing education of its members, which comprise roughly 75 percent of the 1,100 veterinarians in the Chicago area.

For the public, the Association has a public education liaison, a human/animal bond committee that sponsors a grief hotline, an internal consumer advocate division, animal hospital inspections and a rabies clinic for human beings.

Help for moms in transition

One of the many challenges that come with moving a family addresses the general displacement of not just where the family will live, but what happens as they make social adjustments. Each member of the family has their own situations to cope with.

combines working and parenting." I recently attended one of their meetings here in Lake County and learned that several of the members had transferred in from outside the state and were delighted to have found the support and involvement.

FEMALE is the only national at-home mother's organization to offer local chapters, which offer regular meetings. Although the group's main mission is to offer support for mothers that have chosen to leave the workforce or cut back work hours in order to care for their family, this organization can help the needs of the transferred mother.

FEMALE contends that over the next decade two-thirds of all new entrants into the workforce will be women. This support group helps those women cope with the compromise of working outside the home or leaving the workplace altogether. They offer a structure to deal with problems that come with the shift of neighborhood and job status, like isolation and self esteem.

For the transferring mom, this organization can help by sharing information between those separated from friends and family by miles with common experiences. The chapter includes regular meetings that include guest speakers, a monthly newsletter and involvement in leadership opportunities. For the transitioning mom, FEMALE can help. In Illinois, contact FEMALE, P.O. Box 31, Elmhurst, IL 60126, or call 941-3553.

NetDIRECT now on-line

For at least half of Lake County's residents, connecting to the world of computers is now available for the price of a nickel phone call. Lake County's newest hub provider of the Internet, Lakeland netDIRECT, is on line and accepting new subscribers.

The Internet is a world wide collection of computers connected via phone lines and modems. Before the netDIRECT hub service went on line, most Lake County residents could only connect to it via a long distance phone call. Now, anyone who can make a phone call to Grayslake for a nickel connection charge can connect to the Internet for a nickel as well. The subscription charge is $25 per month for unlimited minutes.

Connecting to the Internet will link subscribers up to libraries, entertainment, corporations, and newspapers around the world. However, possibly the most widely used feature of the Internet is electronic mail, where people can converse with others around the world by leaving a message in electronic addressees or mailboxes. Changing technology is quickly allowing people to actually speak to others around the world as well. In the case of Lakeland netDIRECT subscribers, this can be done for the price of a local phone call and the monthly subscription fee.

For more information or to subscribe to Lakeland netDIRECT call 223-8199.

Despite record highs, stocks are not overhauled

Many prognosticators expect Newton's Law to undercut the soaring stock market at any moment, but First Chicago Investment Management Company doesn't expect to see gravity pulling down prices any time soon.

"Investors keep saying that 'what goes up must come down'," said Claude Erb, managing director of research for the investment subsidiary of The First National Bank of Chicago. "But we don't believe there's cause for immediate concern."

Erb discounted investor worries triggered by the fact that the current Standard & Poor's 500 dividend payout ratio of 2.4 percent is a 35-year low.

"Normally, this would suggest the market is overhauled," said Erb. "But companies have become far more frugal about paying dividends than they have been historically. As a result, they're paying out less of their earnings."

The current practice of paying out 40 percent of earnings is dramatically lower than the historical rate of 52 percent. "If dividends were being paid at the historical rate, the dividend yield on the S&P 500 would be 3.4 percent—entirely consistent with today's current interest rates," said Erb.

Interest rates remain the key, Erb said. But investors should not read too much into the Federal Reserve's decision July 6 to lower the Fed Funds rate by just 0.25 percentage point to 8.75 percent.

First Chicago Investment Management Company projects that long-term interest rates will rise by the end of 1995, Erb said. The yield on 30-year Treasury bonds started the year at 8 percent, but has fallen to 6.5 percent, fueling this year's surge in stock market prices.

"A return to 8 percent rates would cause the stock market to give up a good portion of this year's gains," said Erb.

The bottom line?

"While rising rates would pose a threat to equity investors, there's no reason to invest defensively until rates actually start moving up," said Erb.

Survey says finding skilled staff a concern for business

The technology race may be off and running, but in a recent survey, business leaders said that finding the people to use the new and improved systems may require a little more work. Thirty-eight percent of executives polled believe that difficulty finding skilled employees will have the single most significant impact on their company's information technology capabilities in the next three years.

The survey was developed by RHI Consulting, a leading specialized staffing service placing contract information technology professionals. It was conducted by an independent research firm, which polled 150 executives from the nation's 1,000 largest companies.

Respondents were asked, "Which of the following conditions will have the single most significant impact on your company's information technology capabilities in the next three years?" The results:

Difficulty in finding skilled employees	38 %
Constraints on the size of staff	33 %
Inability to finance enough technical resources	23 %
Other/Don't know	6 %

"Any time there are rapid technological advancements, there will be a certain amount of lag time until employees are all 'up to speed,'" said Greg Scilleppi, executive director of RHI Consulting. "By providing necessary training and evaluating hiring needs well in advance, businesses can help mitigate some of the effects of this skills gap."

Scilleppi also encourages managers to consider more flexible alternatives to cope with full-time staffing constraints, such as bringing in professionals on a per-project basis. "The number of contract consultants in information technology has skyrocketed in recent years, offering businesses just-in-time access to needed expertise."

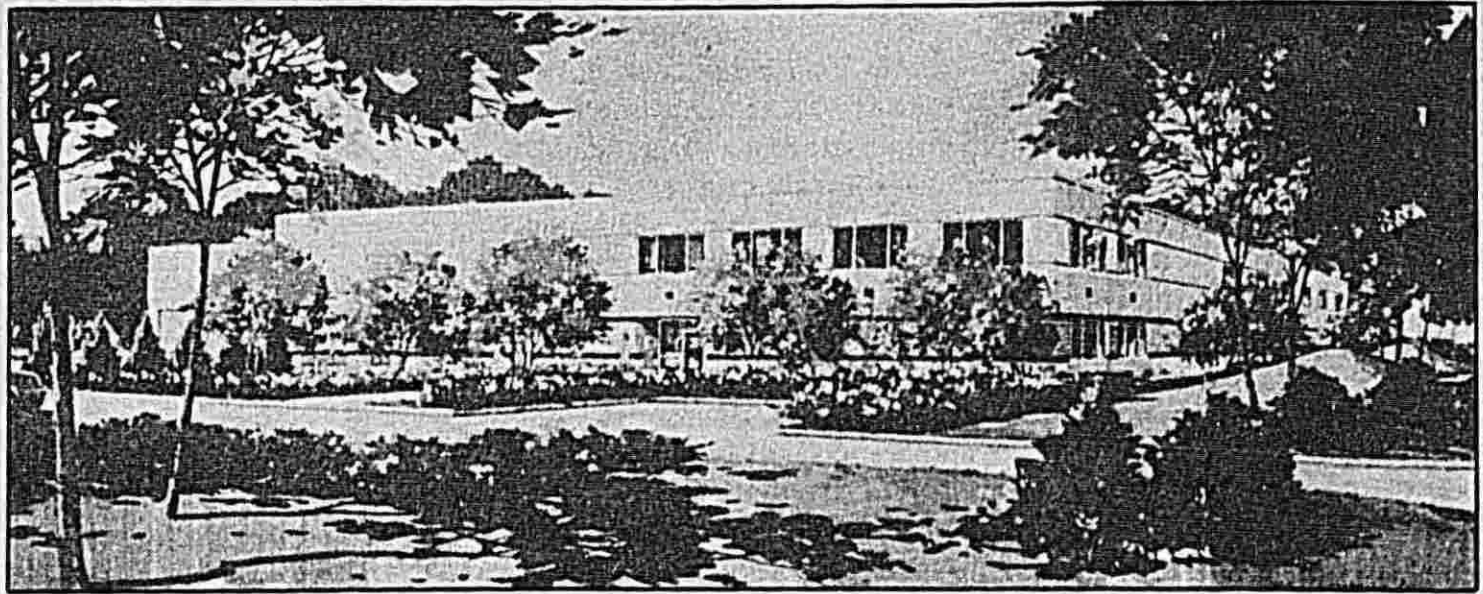

RHI Consulting provides firms with contract technical expertise in areas ranging from multi-platform systems integration to operations, help desk and data communications support. It is a division of Robert Half International (RHI), one of the world's leading specialized staffing services with more than 175 offices in the U.S., Canada and Europe.

Over $7 million awarded for MS research

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society has committed more than $7.5 million to support 38 new research projects by top scientists investigating many aspects of multiple sclerosis. Two of the awards went to projects in the Chicago area, bringing a total of nine currently underway at institutions in the 73 Illinois counties served by the Chicago-Greater Illinois Chapter of the nonprofit organization.

Stephen D. Miller, Ph.D., Northwestern University Medical School, received a grant of $334,373 effective Sept. 30. Joan Palma, Ph.D., also was awarded a grant of $87,604 effective July 1 for a postdoctoral fellowship at Northwestern. Both grantees will investigate immune system processes that lead to the destruction of nerve-insulating myelin.

The 38 new projects, most of them running for a period of three years, are part of a National MS Society program that will spend some $14 million this year to advance research, including funding 200 MS investigations in the U.S. and abroad. The society is the largest private funder of MS research in the world.

"We're excited by the promise these new projects hold for bringing answers to MS," said Stephen C. Reingold, Ph.D., vice president of Research and Medical Programs. "We've invested $175 million on research since our founding 50 years ago—an investment into basic and clinical research that laid the groundwork of the rapid progress we're seeing now."

One new drug that helps some people with MS, Betaseron(R), is now on the market. Other potential treatments—including Copolymer 1 (Copaxone(R), by Teva Pharmaceuticals) and interferon beta-la (Avonex(R), by Biogen)—have shown positive results in clinical trials, and both companies recently applied to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration for permission to market the drugs to treat MS.

The research awards are largely funded by the 90 local chapters of the National MS Society. The Chicago-Greater Illinois Chapter forwarded $3,489,727 in 1994 to the national research program. With the two new awards there are nine current projects totaling an NMSS commitment in this area of $2,267,541.

MS is an unpredictable disease that attacks the nervous system in the prime of life. Symptoms range from numbness to paralysis and blindness. Because MS involves abnormal immune-system responses that attack brain and spinal cord tissue, many of the society's newly funded research projects aim at understanding this complex immune abnormality and discovering ways to repair damage nerve tissues.

For more information about MS research as well as news of local programs and activities, call the Chicago-Greater Illinois Chapter, NMSS at (312)922-800 or 1-800-922-0484.

Alfalfa sprouts suspected link in salmonella cases

An uncommon type of salmonella, "Salmonella stanley," has been reported in Illinois and may be linked to the consumption of alfalfa sprouts, according to Dr. John R. Lumpkin, state director of public health.

Illinois has this year confirmed 18 cases of the disease in seven counties, with all but one of the cases reporting an onset of illness since the beginning of March. Seventeen of the cases are from the Chicago metropolitan area and one is from Champaign County. Four of the cases required hospitalization.

In addition to Illinois, the Centers of Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has said an unusual number of Salmonella stanley cases have been identified in Arizona, California, Colorado, Indiana, Michigan, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio and Washington.

Dr. Lumpkin has recommended that consumers and food service workers thoroughly rinse alfalfa sprouts and other uncooked fresh vegetables and fruits with tap water before eating.

Symptoms of salmonella poisoning can include headache, muscle aches, diarrhea, vomiting, chills, fever, nausea and dehydration. Symptoms of the illness appear six to 72 hours after ingestion.

Griefnotes

The natural order of life is that our children will outlive us. Death changes that order and dashes our plans and hopes for the future. The painful feelings that parents experience makes it difficult for them to support one another during the crisis of grieving. As feelings become stronger and support dwindles the relationship between the partners can become strained. Communication between partners is most important and needs special attention so that their difficulties with grief do not spill over and create misunderstandings in other parts of marriage. Many grieving parents report that they feel abandoned by friends at a time when they need them to listen and help.

Great show

I just got back from the Vernon Hills fireworks and laser display and I would like to congratulate them on such a fine display. It was really wonderful. It out does most fireworks that I've seen here in Lake County.

We Pay For Rags

My daughter plays softball in the Antioch youth baseball league. We have asked repeatedly for new uniforms and were always told that there wasn't enough money. Then last year the little league boys got new uniforms. So this year we decided to ask again for new uniforms, and were told again that there wasn't enough money. If there wasn't enough money, can you tell me why the league spent a $1,000 on new all star uniforms when they just bought new uniforms last year? I guess they only spend money on the boys. I'd like to know who's giving the O.K. for this money spent and why isn't the person in charge of girls softball speaking up for them.

You stink

I would like to know why Fox Lake has spent $25 to 30 million on a sewer treatment plant, and on Independence Day it smelled horrible. I think the town of Fox Lake is in shambles, especially the sewer and water committee.

...Now!

Why do we call the Miss Wauconda pageant under the name Wauconda when it is run like a park district? Anyone from Island Lake can register in the same class. Why don't we call it Miss District 118? Will Wauconda ever represent the people who live here and not those who live beyond its boundaries?

Queen should represent village

Would someone tell me why girls from Fox River Valley Gardens, Island Lake, and McHenry are able to run for little miss, junior miss, and Miss Wauconda? Last time I checked these were separate villages; anyone representing Wauconda should be from Wauconda. Why would we want the mayor of Island Lake's daughter representing Wauconda? Get with the program.

Weed control, population control?

For the concerned people who signed petitions against the use of sonar pellets to kill the weeds in our lakes, shut up. None of you live here. You rent a cottage for a few weeks in the summer. Go home. The people who live in Wauconda have a right to a healthy lake with controlled weeds.

Opening the door

Ask yourself, did Beth Hampel open the door for activists? Before Beth, we had no Sherman and no animal activists. Did her citizens against this or that turn Wauconda into an easy target for protesters? I hope people in Wauconda know activists have one agenda: their own.

Cancel my voice

Once again Lakeland newspapers have failed to put in the results of the Mundelein 5K. It is called Mundelein News, and this is news for this town. The next time my subscription is up, mark it canceled.

For the children's sake

Whatever happened to the bike path? I haven't heard about it in Lipservice or in the papers in a long time. It's been two years since it should have been built near Chesapeake Farms and the so-called residents who never knew about it are still fighting it. I'd like it built soon. I'd like to go out and enjoy it with my children before they become too old.

Praise the library

I'm calling just to give the Lake Villa library a big congratulations. They are really great, the service there is great, everyone who works there is always polite and helpful, and I just want to thank them for the great job they are doing.

It's not the feds

Come on Schroeder, your article on page C1 Mortgage Deduction Threatened By The Feds? It's not the Feds, it's the speaker of the house Newt again. Left up to them, we'd have a handful of billionaires and everyone else in the poor house. Come on now, when they do things like that, don't call it the feds, call them what they really are; the money grubbing Republicans. Get it right I know it's a Republican paper, but hey, at least try to present a un-biased view.

The direct approach

Hi, I'm 18 years old and live in Wauconda and just got back from college and realized all my guy friends are jerks. They know who they are and they are missing out on a good thing by not being friends with us anymore. So I'd like them to know how I feel. I think Lip Service is great.

Pool power

Hey Mr. Wilson, if this pool is in such high demand and is so popular, why hasn't someone privately built one and made a killing off of membership fees? Also, if we want it so bad, what's spending a few more dollars in having a private firm to do a residential study versus your own little independent study?

Dog hit and run

To the person who killed the family dog on Route 12 near Log Cabin Lounge and Fox Lake, I hope you can live with yourself when you left our dog on the highway to be run over by other drivers. You should have seen our 14-year-old daughter when we found the dog we had for 10 years. You should have been in our home when she completely fell apart because she lost both brothers four years ago about 10 feet from where you killed HER dog. What a town Fox Lake is! What kind of people live there?

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I wanted to write to you and thank you for your information last month on how to obtain information on writing your own resume. It was very informative and I am pleased to say that I finally completed mine to a point where I feel comfortable with the outcome. That is, except for one part...my objective. A friend of mine while looking over my finished product mentioned to me that they felt I should change my objective. I have enclosed it for your review. Please offer some suggestions if you will. Thank you in advance. R.D. - Lake Bluff.

A: Dear R.D.: Objectives if written improperly can harm rather than help you. I will list a few objectives actually on the resumes of persons actively seeking employment whereby we have recommended their alteration. 1. Objective: "To obtain experience in management and retail sales". This is all right for someone with the experience in either retail or management. In this case, however, the applicant has worked as a general office clerk for six months with no college experience or experience in either management or retail. 2. Objective: "I am seeking a position of responsibility with an honest company". Why...have you worked for a dishonest company? 3. Objective: "An initial position in Marketing or Advertising, with opportunities for growth and possible travel". Nix on the travel...not necessary to have in the objective. It makes it appear as though you are restless and are not one to be tied down to an office position. Without the "travel" it would be all right except it does not belong on a resume of someone who has a computer programmer certificate whose only work history was a sales clerk in a liquor store and a cook at a restaurant. The point is not to focus objectives so as to knock yourself right out of the running for any position. For example: The college graduate with a degree in accounting who has worked part time as an accounts payable clerk has an objective that reads: "To find a challenging position in the field of accounting which utilizes my organizational skills". Simple and focused. The telemarketing representative whose objective reads: "To obtain a challenging position that will utilize my oral and written communication skills"...again, simple and focused. My advice is to review your objective. You're in the right direction with just a bit of modification. Hope this helps!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

PET OF THE WEEK

Coco

"Coco" is a male German Shorthair Pointer, about five years old. This handsome dog has a lean but sturdy build, and a chocolate colored velvet soft coat that looks like suede. His favorite toy is a rawhide bone. Coco is a calm dog, with a low-key, easy going personality. Coco is in the prime of his life, and has had some obedience training. He loves attention, and responds especially well to gentle, consistent affection.
Coco prefers the company of adults, and will be an outstanding companion to someone who appreciates the fine qualities of his breed, and who is looking for a steady, trustworthy, loyal friend. Can't you just picture this dog on a snowy evening, laying in the soft glow of a fireplace? This fine fellow was found in Lake Zurich and has been waiting for a home since November of 1994, in Cage 7-9.
Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow-up care, and much more.
Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 a.m. - 5 p.m., seven days a week. Call (708) 945-0235 for further information.

COLUMBUS

The 2970 square foot Columbus is a unique home that combines traditional styling with a spacious, modern floor plan. Today's multi-faceted families will appreciate this open floor design. With the sleeping areas on different levels, this home will appeal to a variety of family situations. Retired couples can seal off the entire second floor until children and grandchildren come to visit. Mom and Dad can have the privacy of a first floor master suite, while teenagers, also needing a certain amount of privacy, have the run of the upper level.

A covered porch dominates the front and wraps to the side, offering a shady escape from the summer heat. The attractive exterior brick suggests a solid permanence.

Inside the vaulted entry, open to the second floor, the excellent use of space is evident. To the left of the entry sits a comfortable living room, with windows all around to drink in the view. To the right, the formal dining room is conveniently near the kitchen.

The isolated master suite is sure to please. Amenities here include a huge walk-in closet, home security system to insure your safety and a private bathroom with shower, twin basins, linen storage and skylit spa. There is also access to a small private deck.

The vaulted family is where you and your guests can gather to watch videos and munch popcorn, while the corner fireplace keeps everyone cozy.

The location of the kitchen allows you to serve food anywhere with ease. Featured here are a walk-in pantry, double ovens, central cooktop, garden window and adjoining nook. When the weather is nice, set up the barbecue on the back deck and invite the whole gang.

Step through the utility room, with pull-down ironing board and laundry chute, into a two-car garage equipped with a shop/storage area.

A central staircase brings you to the second level. Here a vaulted den bisects the top floor with two bedrooms and a bath on one side and a single bedroom with private bath on the opposite.

For a study kit of the COLUMBUS (334-170), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark.

Semi-pro Vikings tune-up for exhibition tilt with 'W'

With superior numbers on both sides of the line, the Lake County Vikings earned rave reviews in their 1995 debut.

The Vikings won a controlled scrimmage against the Midway Jets.

Head Coach Russ Kraly said turnout at workouts had been strong before the 42-4 win Sunday. In a scrimmage, big plays such as a touchdown, fumble recovery or interception are all worth points.

"It was a real good effort. We had 45 guys at practice and we can go to 55 on the roster," Kraly said.

Adam Tesch, a Round Lake High grad, ignited the offense with four touchdown passes to as many receivers. "He had a nice touch on the ball. Now he has to get his timing down," Kraly said.

'It was a real good effort. We had 45 guys at practice and we can go to 55 on the roster.'

Russ Kraly,
Vikings Coach

Vikings fans will be able to see their favorites in a four-quarter scrimmage July 16 when they host Chicago Falcons at 6 p.m. at Round Lake High.

Mike Draper, Joe Kurczoydyna, Reggie Lawrence and Rick Starosta snared TD passes. Lawrence scored on a better than 40-yard run.

Luke Tesch, Scott Wesolek led the running attack.

The defense surrendered no points - the only Jets points coming on an interception and a fumble.

Jason Molinaro returned one for a TD while Justin Brooks and John Burke added interceptions the Vikes.

"We do not have as many veterans. I do not want to tout one player over someone else. I want to give everyone a fair shot," Kraly said.

The Midwest Football League season opens Aug. 5 as the Indiana Renegades come to Round Lake High at 6 p.m.

Chiefs settle for 4th at tourney

One thing one may say about the Lake County Chiefs' 13-and-under baseball team: They know how to play entertaining games.

The Chiefs fell to Northwest Travelers 12-11 in a 7-inning battle. The loss had the Chiefs settle for fourth place at the West Chicago tourney. "It was one of the best games I ever was a part of. It was a great game," Chiefs Manager Art Mansavage said.

The Chiefs were led by two Lake Zurich sluggers. Mike Crane of Lake Zurich made a diving catch and then gained a force out for a double play.

Chris Frey of Lake Zurich hot over .500 for the tourney and John Glatt of Riverwoods and Jason Baker of Libertyville and Austin Turner of Buffalo Grove had key hits.

The Chiefs had no trouble beating Wheaton 12-0 and Fox Valley 10-0. Crane and Mike Bruszer gained the wins. The 11-year-olds won at Genoa City, while the 12-year-olds were second.

Corsairs begin regionals by cruising to win

Carmel High's offense was in high gear as the Corsairs started the Stevenson regional with an easy win Monday.

The Corsairs won 18-4 in baseball action over Waukegan.

"We got a lot of guys who can hit the ball well. It is a matter of who shows up, because we have two summer teams," Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi said.

Eric Ames was the winning pitcher. "The defense behind him played real well," Gandolfi said.

Ames helped his own cause with a pair of hits. Mike McMahon had a pair of doubles and Mike Buhrens had 2 hits.

Carmel advanced to play Crystal Lake Central in the second round. Finals are at Stevenson July 14.

Elsewhere in round one action, Grant fell to Zion-Benton 8-5. Down 7-0, Grant made it interesting but the hole was too deep. Mark Cobb and Joe Ornelas had a pair of hits each.

'Karate kid' garners gold in regionals

With two more karate medals in his name and the distinguished black belt on the horizon, Round Lake's Nenad Brakocevic continues his brilliance in the martial arts.

In his latest exploits, Brakocevic gained a gold medal in fighting and a silver medal in bow forms during the Atlantic Regional Championships at the College of DuPage in Glen Ellyn. The just-turned 18-year-old fought in the brown belt adult division for competitors aged 18 to 34.

Brakocevic won four consecutive fights to gain the gold, including a knock-out combination that ended the fight for one New Yorker.

"First, I punched him in the stomach, and I then followed through with a punch to the ribs. They had to stop the fight," Brakocevic said.

In the title match, Brakocevic ousted last year's national champion from West Virginia, despite having a contact stripped from his eye.

"He knocked out one of my contacts with a shot to the eye, but with one contact I was able to finish the fight," Brakocevic said.

The medals were all the more meaningful for the native from the former Yugoslavia because his mother, Branka, and brother, Veljko, were visiting from Belgrade.

"They were out there cheering for me," a proud Brakocevic said. "My mom couldn't believe the way I was fighting. It was pretty exciting."

When Brakocevic celebrated his 18th birthday June 14, he automatically advanced to the adult division. He said his training at USA Karate in Libertyville under master John Townsley helped him be prepared for the adult division.

"The fights I had were pretty tough. The way I was trained helped me a lot," said Brakocevic, who is also training for his black belt. "My goal was to go through the matches and fight the best I can."

He will next compete at the national championships in Akron, Ohio, Aug. 11-13. In the meantime, Brakocevic still is preparing for the elite black belt.

USA Karate and its trainer

Townsley are also preparing a USA Team to compete in the Mediterranean Games in Greece Oct. 16-26. USA Karate is the only karate organization and training facility with the authority to represent the United States under the flag. Townsley hopes karate will be accepted as a sport in the Olympics.

In time, Brakocevic could be bringing home an Olympic gold medal for the United States one day.

Round Lake's Nenad Brakocevic salutes the crowd after a victorious match. He gained a gold medal in fighting and a silver in bow forms during the Atlantic Regional Championships at the College of DuPage.

'Race Against Drugs' benefits DARE programs

Toft Auto Racing's Wilmot Speedway will host its annual "Race Against Drugs" Night Aug. 5.

Heading the list of giveaways to youngsters in attendance at the races that evening will be a bike giveaway. The bike is being given away by Wilmot Speedway in conjunction with Herbalife and area representative Terry Shebenik of Waukegan along with Antioch Schwinn.

"We're excited about the opportunity of giving a bike away to some lucky youngster," said promoter Ray Toft. "The Race Against Drugs Night is an evening we, as a speedway staff, along with the competitors, look forward to."

"Herbalife has been involved with the DARE programs nationwide," explained Shebenik. "This allows us to become involved in the local community as well."

Besides sponsorships for the traditional U.S. savings bonds which will be given away, businesses and individuals wishing to donate gift certificates or merchandise are encouraged to contact the speedway.

Youngsters will have the opportunity to win prizes as they are matched up with a competitor for the evening's feature event. Plans are to match a youngster with each of the anticipated 20 mini-sprint drivers to start off with.

"If the interest which we had last year is any indication, we hope to be able to match youngsters with drivers in as many of our features as possible," explained Toft.

Toft Auto Racing invites all young people ages 12 and under to attend the evening's race program with an adult free, as guest of the speedway.

A full program of sprints, IMCA modifieds, mini-sprints and modifieds are scheduled. Gates open at 5 p.m., with racing at 7 p.m. Persons wishing to become involved in the program, or community organizations wishing to have a table with information, contact the track office at (414)862-2458 or Mike Babicz at 855-0019.

Entry list growing for Wilmot championship

MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Correspondent

Six states are represented among the 22 entries received to date for the United States Auto Club (USAC) Loctite National Sprint Car Championship series invasion of Toft Auto Racing's Wilmot Speedway July 27.

Indiana leads the parade of wingless wonder stars with 10. Going into last weekend's USAC action, a three-way tie atop the national championship standings shows the competitiveness of the series.

All three leaders, Eric Gordon of New Palestine, Ind., Tony Stewart of Indianapolis and defending national champion Doug Kalitta of Ann Arbor, Mich., have inked intentions to compete at Wilmot.

Mark Casella of Weirton, W. Va.; Troy House of Chesterfield, Ind.; Bill Rose of Plainfield, Ind.; Jack Straman of Defiance, Ohio; and Tony Elliott of Kokomo, Ind. are among the entrants.

Current Wilmot point leader and past champion Dave Moulis of Johnsbury, along with his uncle, two-time Wilmot champion and past USAC regular Jim Moulis of Fox Lake lead the list of Wilmot regulars gearing up to take on the travelers.

Other local competitors submitted include Allen Winker and Tim Ammon, both of Kenosha, Wis. Tim Cox of Park City, 1989 Wilmot modified champion and 1994 Wilmot Sprint Rookie of the Year, is looking forward to his first USAC show at his home track. And Russ Egan of Gurnee looks to make his first ever non-wing start.

The $4,000 first prize in the 30-lap feature event is part of a total purse of $15,885.

The all-time one-lap non-wing qualifying record of :15.634 set by local driver Dave Hanna of Grayslake on August 1990 may be in jeopardy.

Area golfers get set to 'Tee Off for Kids Sake'

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Lake County is holding its fourth annual "Tee Off for Kids Sake," sponsored by Tenneco Automotive and 95 WIL. This year's golf outing will be held at Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth July 24 with a noon shotgun start.

The $150 golf package includes 18 holes of golf with cart, lunch to go, beverage cart, soft-sided cooler filled with golfer goodies, cocktail hour, live/silent auction and a complete dinner package. Prizes will be awarded for the longest drive and closest to the pin. In addition, there will be a hole-in-one contest.

A tennis tournament is available for the first time this year for those non-golfers who wish to participate. The $45 tennis package includes at least two tennis matches, a live and silent auction and complete dinner package.

After golf or tennis, join the rest of the group for a cocktail hour, an auction and dinner. A dinner package, including the live/silent auction, is available for $35.

For more information, call Big Brothers/Big Sisters at 360-0770.
